Final Bulletins

Ambassadors Talk

LONDON (CP)—United States Ambassador John Winant called today on Ivan Maisky, Soviet ambassador in London, who, in turn, visited the foreign office to confer with Foreign Secretary Eden.

Confer in Moscow

MOSCOW (AP)—Foreign Commissar Molotov received the Finnish, Slovak and Hungarian ministers at conferences that followed one another in quick succession late today.

Legation Functions

HELSINKI, Finland (AP)—The Soviet legation continued to function today indicating Russian-Finnish diplomatic relations are unbroken.

New Eagle Squadron

LONDON (CP)—A second squadron of American pilots is being formed to take its place alongside the Royal Air Force Eagle Squadron of fliers from the United States.

An American airman said "I am told these boys already are well trained and know plenty about Spitfires and Hurricanes."

Victoria Proud

This Province Highest Per Capita in Canada

Victory Loan canvassers today went back to selling stocks and bonds, insurance and motorcars and Victorians contemplated with satisfaction the overwhelming success of the campaign in this division.

Greater Victoria went well over the top. The quota was $5,400,000. Total subscriptions are in the neighborhood of $5,900,000.

Tuesday evening at 7.45 Mayor McGavin will raise the victory pennant from the standard on the Causeway.

Oak Bay was the highest unit in the Greater Victoria division. It went 25 per cent over its objective and a second pennant was unfurled this afternoon at headquarters, 2246 Oak Bay Avenue. The 5th B.C. Coast Brigade band was in attendance and R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and Herbert Anscomb, M.P.P., were the speakers. Mr. Mayhew, a resident of Oak Bay and former reeve, and Samuel Stephens each subscribed an additional $5,000 to bring Oak Bay so far out in front.

Esquimalt has also been awarded a second honor pennant, thanks to the owners of the Coach and Horses Hotel, who, in addition to their $16,000 bond bought another one for $4,000, so that their unit could gain higher honors than those awarded last week.

The British Columbia officials expect $85,000,000 will have been raised when final accounts are tabulated. The original quota

Strikers Not Budged

SAN FRANCISCO (AP)—Striking A.F.L. and C.I.O. machinist unions today rejected the terms of a "back-to-work" move proposed by the navy for putting 11 bay area shipyards into defence production.

Game Fights Ended

WINDSOR (CP)—Two men were in police custody here this afternoon and 14 others were free on $25 bail following a police raid on a river-front island near La Salle, where it is alleged a cock-fighting pit was being operated. Twenty-seven birds were seized.

Police said an additional 17 men risked their lives to avoid arrest by dashing to the other end of the island, diving into a canal.

Nazi Coast Raided

ON THE SOUTHEAST COAST OF ENGLAND (CP)—The roll of heavy explosions was heard once again tonight as Royal Air Force bombers, taking advantage of the long summer evenings, carried out fresh attacks on the Nazi invasion coast.

As planes flew toward Calais, observers said it seemed at times that the sky was filled with British aircraft.

Nazis Meet Stiff Resistance

Russians Yield Before Blitz, Call More Men to Arms

Canadian and Associated Press

The Red army, giving way slowly to the first Nazi onslaught, moved vast masses of men and guns up into the fight today and called tens of thousands more to arms against Russia's erstwhile nonaggression pact partner, it was stated in Moscow.

A German radio broadcast picked up by NBC in New York this afternoon said Nazi forces had crossed the Prut River, the border between Rumania and Soviet Russia, and were continuing to advance after German artillery and the Luftwaffe had smashed Soviet border fortifications.

Planes Strike far Ahead of Troops

Berlin reported the first batches of Russian prisoners were coming to the rear today as Hitler's armored detachments charged forward along the entire eastern Soviet frontier behind air force units striking far ahead of the land forces.

First pictures of action along the 2,000-mile battle line showed the smoke of many fires rolling over moors and steppes.

There were rumors that this or that great city had been captured or was under heavy bombardment, but confirmation was lacking in Berlin. The Nazi high command said only that operations were proceeding "on schedule and successfully."

Claim Submarine Base Attacked

DNB, German news and propaganda agency, claimed a Russian submarine base on the Black Sea was attacked by German bombers—oil stores being set afire.

DNB said German and Rumanian troops continued their advance today in Bessarabia.

In Moscow the Russian army high command said in its first communique today that since the Sunday dawn attack on a front from the Baltic to the Balkans the Germans were fought to a standstill up to Sunday noon, but by nightfall they had made some penetrations of 6 to 10 miles—principally into Lithuania and the section of Poland that now is a part of the U.S.S.R.

Elsewhere, the communique said, the Nazis were repulsed.

The Soviet press published a detailed account of Prime Minister Churchill's speech promising all possible aid against the common enemy to the Russian people defending their native soil.

Urged to Speed Shipbuilding

Daylight Saving In B.C. Probable

Daylight saving in key areas of British Columbia appeared imminent today after H. R. MacMillan, president of Wartime Merchant Shipbuilding Ltd., had wired to the provincial government and mayors of several cities of the province urging that clocks be advanced as a means of speeding up ship construction.

Though the mayors of Victoria and Vancouver would prefer daylight saving as a government enactment, a statement by Acting Premier John Hart placed the onus back on the civic administrations. Action by the councils of the two cities was in the offing.

Mayor Andrew McGavin of Victoria, after receipt of Mr. MacMillan's wire, promised to put it before the council at the first opportunity.

"My personal opinion is that the provincial government—or, better still, the Dominion government—should put daylight saving into effect on a national basis," Mayor McGavin said.

The City Council here has a by-law already drafted so that it could be put into effect with the least possible delay. The measure was before the council some time ago, but was held in abeyance until other cities took action.

Vancouver City Council, at a meeting today decided that if the provincial government fails to act on Mr. MacMillan's suggestion the council may seek to make it effective there.

"If the provincial or Dominion

No comment has been issued, but the space allotted the speech reflects approval.

Moscow, Leningrad and other principal cities of western Russia were blacked out last night.

The Russians claimed 65 Nazi planes downed during German raids on Kiev, capital of the Ukraine; Sebastopol on the Crimean peninsula; Zhitomir in the Ukraine, and the Lithuanian capital Kaunas.

More than 200 Russians were killed and injured during the first hours of the bombings.

Unconfirmed reports reaching Ankara said the Nazi air force had attacked the Russian Black Sea port of Odessa on a scale as devastating as the German bombings of Rotterdam and Belgrade.

While Italy joined Germany yesterday in declaring war on Russia, the daily war communique from Rome today made no mention of any Italian part in the campaign.

Although the Russians announced no counter-raids, reports reaching Berne said Russian bombing squadrons attacked Finland's Aaland Islands and Turku harbor in western Finland yesterday and the Germans said Russian bombers raided East Prussia.

It was announced in Moscow that Russian territory was attacked by land from Finland, which Hitler's war proclamation listed as a German ally; from East Prussia, across old Polish territory, and along the Prut River front from Rumania, which Hitler also named as fighting on his side.

The high command's communique did not mention the Finnish or Prut River fronts, however. It declared the Germans, striking from East Prussia apparently in the direction of the Lithuanian capital, had occupied the village of Kalavaria, 10 miles inside Soviet territory.

Penetrate 6 Miles In Polish Thrust

In a thrust toward Grodno, the Nazis were said to have penetrated to Tsekmanovets, approximately six miles into the northern part of Polish territory taken over by the Soviet Union.

Another drive penetrated Soviet territory in what was southern Poland, aimed toward Kristinopol, on the Bug River, and the Nazis occupied the village of Stoyanov.

Stock Markets Rise As Hitler Plunges

(Canadian Press)

Security and commodity markets generally throughout the world showed strength today on the basis of Germany's invasion of Russia, creating as it does new conditions under which new shortages and new needs may be felt.

The spread of the conflict also involved in the minds of most traders the creation of more favorable conditions for Britain and the Commonwealth—the diversion, temporarily at least, of large German forces which might have been used in an attempt to invade the British Isles.

London was firm on the basis of the diversion and Wall Street saw optimistic commercial signs, including a valuable gain in time for United States national preparedness as well as aid to Britain. The New York bond market also was higher on the same basis.

The Chicago grain market moved upward, partly as a result of feeling that the invasion of the Russian Ukraine might result in destruction of grain crops in Russia's principal producing area—this despite the fact that the Soviet's position as a grain-raising nation has been obscure for a number of years.

It was held in some grain circles there was a possibility of renewed wheat shipments from Canada and the United States to Russia. Such shipments were made on occasions in the past through Pacific coast ports.

The war news even affected the Shanghai and Tokyo stock markets, where a strong tone developed. Sugar in New York rose steeply, as did other commodities. The raw rubber market suspended trading to give members a longer chance to size up the situation.

Lend-Lease Statement Awaited

Nazi Blow at Russia Gain for U.S.

WASHINGTON (AP)—The United States condemned Germany's "treacherous attack" on Russia today and declared "any rallying of the forces opposing Hitlerism" would rebound to the benefit of United States defence and security.

The statement made by Sumner Welles, Under Secretary of State, after he had conferred with President Roosevelt, left open the question of whether lend lease aid would be given to Soviet Russia.

Welles said no communication had been received from the Soviet government as yet, and consequently the question had not been decided by the German government.

He said, however, President Roosevelt had authority under the Lend Lease Act to furnish aid to any country resisting aggression.

The formal declaration of policy read by Welles at a large press conference declared the immediate issue before the American people was whether Hitler's plan for universal conquest was to be successfully halted and defeated.

Share Common Aim

British Back Churchill In Aid to Russia

LONDON (CP)—Britain cheered today Prime Minister Churchill's determination to help Russia fight Germany, but shied at placing too much reliance on the Soviet as a potent brother in arms.

Reports of Russia's resistance along the lengthy eastern front were watched closely for a hint of the Red army's strength or weakness by the press and public, grown wary because of one continental setback after another.

Mr. Churchill's ringing declaration Sunday that "We shall give whatever help we can to Russia and the Russian people" and "any man or state who fights Nazism will have our aid" were seconded warmly by London newspapers. They advanced a burial of ideological differences between Britain and Communist Russia for the common purpose of crushing Hitler.

"Russia need have no fear that we shall weaken in our resolve here in Britain because Hitler is now spitting his venom at the east," the London News Chronicle declared. "Fate has given ourselves and the Russians a common aim—to smash the Nazis."

The London Daily Mail declared: "There must be no sitting back. If we do not use the lull to the full in preparation we may perish. . . . By helping Russia we are helping ourselves."

Census Taker Slips, Neighbors Know All

They said it couldn't happen, but—

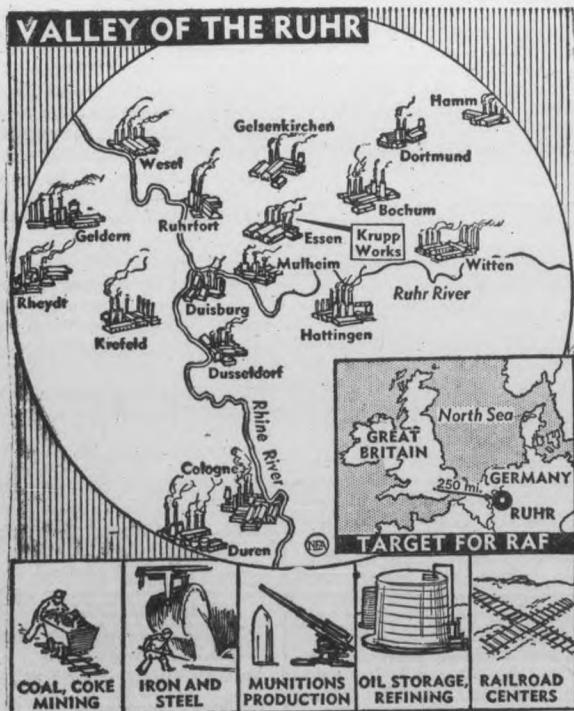

When a census-taker gathered up his papers and things in a James Bay house and moved on, he overlooked a completed sheet containing—above all things—the confidential information about the two folks next door.

Well, . . . and another well! However, to pass up all the neighborhood reactions, Victoria's population total as listed stands at two under what it should be. So that the missing two may be accounted for, the persons who found themselves in possession of the sheet with details about the folks next door have sent it to the Times—just to prove that census-takers do slip.

Vote on Wages

Results of a ballot by street railwaymen in Victoria, Vancouver and New Westminster for acceptance or rejection of an arbitration award by Mr. Justice A. I. Fisher may not be announced for several days, R. K. Gervin, chairman of the Street Railwaymen's Union announced today in Vancouver.

The street railwaymen were voting today and ballots were expected to be counted tomorrow. Mr. Justice Fisher's award recommended a pay increase of six cents an hour and a bonus of 2½ cents an hour for each 5 per cent increase in the cost of living index as from March 1, 1941. Arbitration followed a wage dispute between the British Columbia Electric Railway Company and the union.

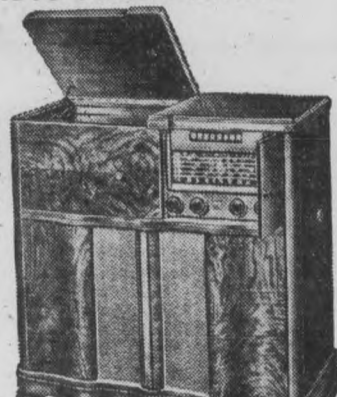

Relentless target of R.A.F. bombing raids is Germany's great Ruhr Valley, called the world's most powerful centre of industry, as Britain seeks to destroy this important hive of factories producing Nazi iron and steel, munitions and synthetic oil. Most of Ruhr cities shown on map have been bombed.

B.C. Speeds ARP Defence As Russia Invaded

Hitler's invasion of Russia brought the war home to British Columbia sharply today, for a Hitler-dominated Russia would be only short flying distance from the northern reaches of the province.

The first reaction was an immediate speeding up in steps to organize civilian air raids precautions on a province-wide basis.

Attorney-General Gordon Wismer, just back from an A.R.P. organization tour of the southern interior, announced he will shortly tour the central interior with a similar purpose and extend precautions to the balance of the province as rapidly as possible.

Hitler's Plunge Gives Allies Time

NEW YORK (CP)—The new crisis of the war, Germany's attack on Soviet Russia, was viewed by the New York press today as providing a breathing space for Britain and the United States—time in which to hurry production of war materials.

"This is the great crisis of the war, and therefore the great crisis of western history," said the Herald-Tribune's editorial. "Beside that simple fact every other consideration is secondary."

"The breathing space it brings to Britain and ourselves is unimportant, except to the extent to which every possible use is made of it."

"The criminal subversions of Communism, the past sins of Soviet policy and the politico-economic doctrines of the Stalinist state are as irrelevant to the west in this great juncture as they were to Hitler himself when the latter struck his bargain in August, 1939."

Russians Thank R.A.F.

Nazi Coast Battered Again, Week-end Bag Up to 64

Canadian and Associated Press
While British bombers blasted Nazi objectives in a 100-mile arc from Dover, Soviet Russian sources professed today "Russia's approval and heartfelt thanks for the heavy raids dealt on Germany's industrial sections and supremacy of the air which now belongs to Britain."

They said they were most pleased with Prime Minister Churchill's speech yesterday, especially those passages in which he "underlined the villainy of the Nazi regime" and "pledged help of the great, free British Empire" to Russia.

Making an offensive sweep over northern France for the seventh successive day, the Royal Air Force reported the destruction of seven more German fighter planes today, bringing the total for the last three days to 64.

The Daily News had this to say about the position of the United States:

"In our opinion, it will take a lot of selling to sell the majority of Americans on the proposition that we should line up with Soviet Russia to lick Hitler or anybody else... We'll probably go on shipping stuff to England under the Lease Lend Act, and arming ourselves as fast as we can."

The News regarded the Nazi attack on Russia as Britain's biggest "break" of the war.

2-FRONT WAR
The Times urged the United States take full advantage of the "precious time" allowed the western democracies to build up stores of armaments.

"We ought to seize boldly the opportunity to increase Hitler's difficulties at the very moment when he has at last risked war simultaneously on two fronts, by doubling and redoubling our aid to Britain," said the Times.

HIGHEST COURAGE
Under the heading "We Will Not Be Seduced," the New York Post said:

"The words of the Prime Minister yesterday will be long remembered. They gave us a superb exhibition of courage and boldness and wisdom, of a strong man keeping his seat at a hard and bucking moment of history."

"They were the words of a teacher, explaining, as it must be explained, over and over again, that everything we thought and believed and knew about the Nazis a week ago is still true today."

"They were the words of a distinguished democrat and conservative, rising above his natural loathing of Communism to put first things first. Mr. Churchill became the leader of all those democrats who will never again be seduced by Adolf Hitler."

TO DOUBLE AID
The Post said the United States must continue to aid Britain—"even to double and quadruple that aid" and added: "The democratic world will take care of Communism in its own way, in its own good time; Hitler will never take care of anything for the democratic world except its destruction."

CASHING IN
Commented the New York World-Telegram:

"Our British friends—as yesterday's address of Winston Churchill makes clear—intend to cash in on their big opportunity...."

"Let us in America also make the most of our opportunity. While our enemies, the Nazis and Communists, are fighting each other, let us redouble our efforts to produce guns and tanks and planes and bombs for the British—and redouble our efforts to make our own defences impregnable."

NOT SHORTSIGHTED
The Boston Herald said few Americans have any love of Stalin or Communism and went on:

"In this grave struggle which has engulfed almost the entire world, it would be shortsighted in the extreme if any large number of Americans allowed political or religious beliefs to prevent them from giving full devotion and loyalty to their nation's first

The R.A.F. seemed to be attacking targets inland as well as on the coast, with bombing by large forces carried out on a selective basis over a wide area.

Some quarters expressed the opinion the fliers were striking at Nazi communications in northern France.

Fighter-escorted bombers sped across the Channel in mid-afternoon and resounding explosions soon were heard by watchers on the British southeast coast. The bombers tangled in a spirited fight with German chasers, then headed home again.

Besides Wilhelmshaven, where the Air Ministry said large fires were started, other R.A.F. targets last night included Emden, Bremen, Bremerhaven and Dueseldorf.

These raids followed Sunday battles over the Channel and France in which 30 German planes were downed against only two R.A.F. losses, bringing the Nazi toll in two days of aerial chases to 57 planes. Another German plane was destroyed by one of last night's raiding bombers.

Absolute Supremacy
In Northwest Europe

The series of crippling blows dealt by the R.A.F. of Nazi military targets and the German air force have won Britain "absolute supremacy" in the air over northwestern Europe, a United States army corps officer said today.

According to this observer, who has spent the last five weeks with the R.A.F., Britain seized a good advantage of the opportunity preobjective—the defence of Britain and the defeat of Nazi Germany."

TIME ELEMENT
Other editorial comment:

Philadelphia Evening Bulletin: "Who has what Hitler wants stands in deadly peril of attack. The timing alone remains to be determined. The hour has struck for Russia. Ours is the richest country in the world. It has untold wealth of the kind Hitler covets."

Philadelphia Record: "Of course we cheer this break between Russia and Germany. It will give us time to arm ourselves and to help England. It may prove the turning point of the war. But we cheer as a man might cheer when he sees a skunk attacking a bloodthirsty tiger. His cheers would not indicate that he wanted to make a pet of the skunk."

The Chicago Tribune: "The German declaration of war against Russia has cut the ground from under the war party in this country. They said we must go to war to save Britain from invasion. Britain is no longer threatened.... It means that if there ever was any justification for our intervention in arms, that justification no longer exists."

FOLLOW THE LEAD
The Chicago Times: "Winston Churchill... announced his government's courageous and realistic decision. Whoever is Nazism's enemy is Britain's ally. Therefore Britain will give Russia all aid possible. The United States has this same decision to face. The only realistic way to face it is to follow Churchill's path."

FIRST WOMAN FERRY PILOT—STILL FEMININE—First Officer Jacqueline Cochran, second from right, seated on a London park bench with a group of admiring London girls after becoming the first woman to ferry a bomber across the Atlantic. After the trip, the woman flier refused to be photographed in uniform because, she said, "My slacks need pressing... I may fly bombers but I still am feminine." (Cablephoto.)

'Democracy Accomplishes More Than Regimentation'

Victorians and British Columbians were thanked today for their part in making the Victory Loan a success by J. W. Spencer, chairman of the Greater Victoria division and Major Austin C. Taylor, provincial chairman.

Mr. Spencer's message follows:

"During the past three weeks democracy has shown that it can accomplish more than is possible under regimentation. Canada has oversubscribed her Victory Loan, and the Victoria division, embracing this city, the adjoining municipalities, the Gulf Islands, Duncan and Chemainus, has played an important role in the raising of those funds."

"This division not only subscribed its quota of $5,400,000, but exceeded that amount by approximately $500,000. To achieve this, the wholehearted co-operation of our citizens was needed. The united effort of the people was required, and the greatest satisfaction that we can have out of this accomplishment is that we have attained our goal without the arbitrary demands of dictatorship, with its accompaniment of regimentation. The objective we have reached is a glowing example that democracy can function more efficiently than dictatorship, and with it all retain its cherished freedom of action."

"With a deep consciousness of what this means, and with a full understanding of the generous and self-sacrificing effort that had to be put forth to accomplish this end, I would like at this time to express my unbounded gratitude to all those who made it possible for Victoria division to put its contribution to the third Canadian war loan over the top."

MANY HELPERS

"I would like to express my deep appreciation of the assistance volunteered by the provincial government; the city and municipal councils; utility companies; transportation firms; delivery firms; merchants, who donate services, goods and advertising space; various business organizations that in one way or another contributed freely to the success of the campaign; the small army of citizen salesmen; those workers who imbued with a spirit of rendering public service, toiled long into the night without thought of remuneration; the young ladies, who formed our clerical staff and worked without thought of reward; and last but not least the press, who so generously gave of their news and advertising space to keep the campaign buoyant with varied appeals to the citizens."

"Also, I would like to say a word of gratitude to all those who supported the campaign with their subscriptions. More particularly I like to direct my remarks to those whose subscription meant the making of a very great sacrifice. Our salesmen reported innumerable cases of loyal citizens who did more than make a sound investment. It is to those who gave up their small comforts, encroached upon their emergency funds, and in other ways made sacrifices, that we, who were identified directly with the campaign, feel most grateful. "To those who worked on various committees arranging details of some phase of the campaign I also extend my sincere thanks. Perhaps the greatest tribute to the wholehearted manner in which the citizens generally co-operated lies in the fact that limittations of space makes it impossible to list specifically all those, who, in some way, contributed to the success of the drive. I can assure the citizens that the list is a long one.

"On behalf of my co-workers I say thank you, and invite you to take a share in any other such worthy cause which Canada may see fit to call upon its peoples to undertake in the prosecution of this war, the winning of which means so much to us who are accustomed to living under a flag that stands for freedom of thought; freedom of speech and freedom of action."

Major Taylor said, in a message to Mr. Spencer, "While applications received during the next week at provincial headquarters will be accepted, Victory Loan campaign officials closed Saturday night at which time I am happy to tell you our province and Yukon Territory had raised $21,000,000 over our quota of $60,000,000 from 93,817 individuals."

"This means that one in every 8½ in British Columbia and Yukon Territory has bought a victory bond. This is an exceedingly satisfactory result and has only been possible through combined efforts of thousands of voluntary workers and salesmen throughout the province. Purposes of this telegram is to express thanks of myself and provincial committee, as well as thanks of Minister of Finance for the assistance and co-operation you have given in making provincial total such an outstanding success, and also achieving such splendid results in your own community."

Whirly Heads West

NEW YORK (AP)—A note of warning to the three-year-olds in the west—Whirlaway's on the way.

Having won all the worth-while cash in the east, topping it off with $8,075 in the 53rd running of the Dwyer at Aqueduct Saturday, Warren Wright's whiz-bang will be shipped to Chicago this week for the next stop in his try at Seabiscuit's all-time money-winning record of $437,730.

He will enter the classic at Arlington Park and the American Derby at Washington, each worth about $40,000.

The two Chicago affairs, if he wins them, would boost Whirlaway's earnings to some $325,000.

Mackenzie King Coming West

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King will leave Ottawa tomorrow on the start of a trip to the British Columbia coast.

"The purpose of the present trip is to enable the Prime Minister to inspect military, naval and air establishments in western Canada," a statement from the Prime Minister's office said.

The first stop will be Calgary, June 27.

The trip to the Pacific coast will give the Prime Minister an opportunity for some rest during the long train journey, although he will be accompanied by a staff prepared to handle coded communications and keep him in close touch with his responsibilities as Secretary of State for External Affairs.

World Watches Japan's Moves

SHANGHAI (AP)—Far Eastern observers watched Japan today for signs she might try to seize eastern Siberia while Russia is battling for her life against Germany in the west.

Conquest of eastern Siberia is pointed to as for long a frankly-admitted ambition of the Japanese Kwangtung army which garrisons Manchukuo. Russian air bases in the east constitute a threat against Japan proper, and eastern Siberia has natural riches.

Against such impulses are pitted the recent Japanese trend southward in the Pacific, plus the setbacks her military adventures on the Asiatic continent have suffered in past years, such as the stalemated Chinese war.

Some observers saw Japan making a continental move on Russia only if Russia should become so weakened she would be easy prey.

Another belief expressed was that present developments gave Japan a golden opportunity to get out of the China impasse by an attack on Siberia. It was suggested that Japan might never find a better chance of liquidating the Chinese war on a face-saving basis.

Britain Needs More Meat*Canadians Asked to Reduce Pork Eating for Three Months

OTTAWA (CP)—Canadians today were requested by the Canadian Bacon Board to eat less pork during the next three months in order to leave ample supplies available for shipment to Great Britain.

The board suggested substitution of lamb, beef, veal, poultry and vegetables for pork products of all kinds, including bacon and hams.

The appeal marked the first positive direction given Canadian consumers in their eating habits with a view to assisting Great Britain. Last winter when a butter shortage was feared there were suggestions Canadians should go easy on butter eating, but that was purely to meet a domestic situation.

The government, through the Dairy Products Board, is taking over all Ontario and Quebec cheddar cheese for shipment to Great Britain. This will cut down on the amount of cheese available to the consumer, but the consumer himself has not been asked to co-operate.

44,000 HOGS WEEKLY

"At the present time Canadians are consuming the equivalent in pork products of about 44,000 hogs per week," said the board in a statement today. "In March and April of this year the consumption was up as high as 54,000 hogs per week. The decrease of about 10,000 hogs per week was the result of the action of the bacon board restricting, about five weeks ago, the supply of pork products to the domestic trade to the average weekly consumption of 1940.

"This had the effect of increasing the supply for export to Britain, but the requirements which the British ministry desires are not being met, consequently the people of Canada are asked to co-operate and eat less pork products.

"It is expected that by next fall the marketing of hogs in Canada will be sufficient in volume to meet British requirements and leave plenty for home consumption in Canada.

"It is felt that this appeal to the people of Canada at this time of the year to eat less pork of all kinds, including bacon and ham, will not entail any hardship as there are abundant supplies of other good foods available which will provide very suitable summer menus."

$25,000,000 Contract Let*Canada to Build Martin B26 Bombers

OTTAWA (CP)—A contract for construction of latest type bombers, involving an outlay of over $25,000,000 was announced by Munitions Minister Howe today. National Steel Car Corporation Limited, Malton, Ont., was given the contract to construct Martin B26 bombers, and the contract cost is exclusive of the cost of engines, propellers and instruments.

"The Martin B26 is the last word in United States design of a medium bomber, combining high speed and great range," said Mr. Howe. "The planes are to be built in the company's Malton plant and the contract provides that R. J. Magor, president of National Steel Car, will be personally responsible for the management and administration of this plant."

The Martin B26, known as the "flying torpedo," is powered with two engines, driving two four-bladed propellers. The ship weighs some 13 tons and is faster than any pursuit planes now fighting in Europe.

No Leakage of Money*U.S. Stops Italians Leaving Country

WASHINGTON (AP)—The federal government acted today to halt the departure of Italian nationals from the United States. The action duplicated steps taken against the Germans in this country June 18.

The justice department announced it had issued instructions to immigration and border patrol officers to take all necessary steps to prevent any Italian national from leaving the country, pending further instructions. The department said it understood the treasury issued similar instructions to customs officers.

The step was taken, the department said, to insure compliance with the executive order of the President of last June 14, regulating transactions in foreign exchange and foreign-owned property.

The order and accompanying regulations prohibit Italian nationals from exporting or withdrawing from the United States any gold or silver coin or bullion or any currency, and require reports with respect to any property in the United States in which the Italians have any interest whatsoever.

BRENTWOOD UNIT Reports of a steadily increasing amount of work completed for the Red Cross were presented by Mrs. Lorne Thomson at a meeting of the executive and work conveners of the Brentwood Unit held in the Orange Hall, Saanichton, on Friday. According to the report presented by Mrs. L. Thomson almost as much work was completed from January 1 to the end of May this year as during the whole of 1940.

The report showed 1,188 garments completed, and 458 sweaters and pairs of socks. While there are almost 100 workers in the Brentwood Unit which covers Ward 6 of Saanichton, it was noted that this is less than 25 per cent of the women who might reasonably be expected to assist in this work.

It was agreed to send a circular to every household in Ward 6 inviting membership in the Red Cross Society and enlistment for the duration as an active worker. It was agreed to present the great need of more and more for distressed areas in the homeland and to press for the help of at least one person in every home in Ward 6. Sewing machines are urgently needed either as a donation or on loan.

Interested persons are urged to get in touch with any of the following without delay: President, Capt. S. Gray; vice-president, Mrs. H. R. Gale; secretary-treasurer, Capt. G. A. Wyllys, R.N., retired; assistant secretary, Mrs. Lorne Thomson; work conveners, Mrs. J. J. Young, Mrs. D. K. Beaumont, Mrs. W. Dempster, Mrs. J. Carrier, Mrs. Fred Wilson, Mrs. S. P. Moody and Mrs. G. H. May.

British Communists Warn of 'Upper Classes'

LONDON (AP)—In the wake of Prime Minister Churchill's declaration of policy to aid Soviet Russia against Germany, British sources said the Nazis invaded Russia as an easier alternative to attempt to invade Britain.

Hitler probably hoped, it was said, his attack on Communist Russia might be a deterrent to United States aid to Britain.

"The Germans hope to suggest to the United States that an appeasement party exists here, thus preventing the American government and industry from extending armament plants," a spokesman said.

"A secondary German propaganda line will certainly be to suggest to America that Britain and Russia now are ideological brothers fighting against Germany. The Nazi army will be pictured as fighting a holy war against Bolshevism."

Officials refused comment on Nazi claims of a "secret understanding" between London and Moscow.

"In this country," one spokesman averred, "there will be no compromise with Adolf Hitler. This war again shows the futility of any pact with Hitler, Pacts to Germans are the anesthetic given before the operation begins."

NEEDS OIL

Germany risked a two-front war because she needs control of Russia's oil, minerals and wheat to overcome the combined resources of Britain and the United States, it was said, and because propagandists believe a war on Russia will divide Britain and the United States by playing on anti-Russian feeling in each nation.

A rumor that Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden was preparing to go to Moscow was discounted.

The position of the Finnish legation in London was "unchanged," despite Hitler's proclamation by the Finns as German allies.

British Bomber Lands in Portugal

LISBON (CP)—Six members of the Royal Air Force, including a Winnipeg-born flight sergeant, escaped injury when their two-engine bomber was forced to land near Viana Castelo after using up its gasoline bucking a storm.

The crew destroyed their plane before they surrendered to police, who escorted them to the "Palace Hotel" of a nearby village and told them not to leave.

The Winnipeg flier nicknamed "Bob," the only one able to speak French, acted as interpreter between the authorities and the airmen. He said he was transferred to Britain 14 months ago after training in Canada and since had been busy as an observer aboard bombers, "always coming out safely."

Portuguese authorities quoted him as saying: "We landed on Portugal's shores when our petrol was exhausted. The bomber had been for several hours in a great storm several hundred miles off the coast."

"After landing we destroyed the plane and surrendered to the authorities who have treated us very kindly. I know nothing of the future—but I wish we could be flying again soon."

New War Theatre Cheers Australia

SYDNEY (AP)—Australians today regarded the Russo-German conflict as the most cheering news since start of the second world war.

Prime Minister R. G. Menzies said that if Russia put up the maximum of resistance it would aid Britain in diverting German forces from other theatres of war. Army Minister Percy G. Spender warned Russia's military strength should not be over-estimated. He emphasized Australia's war task was still stupendous and the Allies could not expect to turn the tide of war in their favor for many months.

Military writers forecast tremendous Royal Air Force assaults on western Germany while the Nazi air force was engaged with Russia.

Mr. Menzies said outbreak of war between Russia represented a high water mark of cynicism by Hitler who recently proclaimed a sort of blood brotherhood with Russia. Mr. Menzies said the war gave additional proof of the German disregard of treaties.

The prime minister said Australia hoped to seek maximum Russian resistance which would strengthen Turkey and help Great Britain in other theatres of war. Hitler's objective obviously was to seize the wheat fields in Russian Ukraine and the oil fields in Iran, he said.

William Morris Hughes, Minister of the navy and Australia's prime minister during the last years of the first great war, said the Russo-German war would greatly affect Britain and revolutionize her Pacific position.

Mr. Hughes said even if Russia is eventually beaten the delay would enable Britain to reach air parity with Germany. He said Napoleon was far greater than Hitler and failed to conquer Russia.

WAKE UP YOUR LIVER BILE—

And You'll Jump Out of Bed in the Morning Rarin' to Go

The liver should pour out two pounds of liquid bile into your bowels daily. If this bile is not flowing freely, your food doesn't digest. It just decays in the bowels. Gas blows up your stomach. You get constipated. Harmful poisons go into the body, and you feel sour, sunk and the world looks punk.

A mere bowel movement doesn't always get at the cause. You need something that works on the liver as well. It takes those good, old Carter's Little Liver Pills to get these two pounds of bile flowing freely and make you feel "up and up." Harmless and gentle, they make the bile flow freely. They do the work of a catalyst but have no calomel or mercury in them. Ask for Carter's Little Liver Pills by name! Stubbornly refuse anything else. See.

Now the World Knows

UNTIL EARLY YESTERDAY MORNING Josef Stalin was a large question mark on the world's political stage—the enigma without peer. He had been regarded as an opportunist devoid of all scruple, willing to be led by the archpriest of aggression into such strategic avenues of self-aggrandizement as would postpone open conflict with his powerful western neighbor until a major prize might come within his grasp. His conduct since Vyacheslav Molotov and Joachim von Ribbentrop attached their signatures to the famous pact of mutual understanding on August 23, 1939, had left an embittered and skeptical world with little but this unpleasant and disturbing impression of him. But it has remained for Adolf Hitler himself to dispel the illusion under which other nations had labored for nearly two years. If there is one truth, then, which the Nazi chief has exposed in all its naked ugliness to the peoples of the earth it is that the diabolic system he epitomizes constitutes the major threat to the liberty of mankind and the freedom of men's souls.

Nothing in this assessment of the completely changed scene is intended by one jot or tittle to condone or excuse those practices of which Stalin and his associates have been the exemplars. It is for the man whom Hitler has so characteristically betrayed to compose his conscience in respect of the brutal campaign in Finland. Even that doubtful and costly venture for Russian arms and Russian policy in general, however, must now be viewed from an entirely different perspective—as well as in the light of geographical facts as they were related to the Kremlin's attitude of that time, and as the events of yesterday have so strikingly emphasized them. All similar considerations now, of course, can be dispensed with; the cleavage between the two men would appear to be complete and irrevocable. The gospel according to "Mein Kampf" as originally conceived by Herren Hess and Hitler during their incarceration at Landsberg nearly 20 years ago is now in the process of practical application against the Muscovite philosophy whose teachings horrified the world and sent some elements in many lands into the camp of the former house painter.

Until this new phase of the conflict more clearly shapes itself one can but speculate in vague terms on its probable effects on the Allied cause. It is natural to read into the invasion of the Soviet realm one or two fairly reasonable prospects without indulging in undue optimism. It is true that Russia's army, her mechanized equipment, and her air force are reputed to be at least the equal numerically of those of Germany; but only when action on the grand scale has been squarely joined will the real result of the test be manifest. These doubts notwithstanding, however, the diversion on which the German high command has embarked must, at least, bring temporary satisfaction to Great Britain, if only because it will serve to slacken the pressure on the island fortress and cause less disturbance to industrial production. Conversely, as United States aid, especially in bomber and fighter aircraft, reaches the Royal Air Force, so will our attacks on the Reich proper grow in intensity and frequency. Another reasonable explanation of the German attack is now clearer than ever: Hitler is in urgent need of more foodstuffs and oil. This obvious consideration, moreover, accentuates two important facts: 1. The Nazi chief is evidently convinced he cannot deliver victory to the German people this year. 2. He must wrest economic service to its fullest extent from his former "ally" to counterbalance American production for the use of the democracies in the coming months.

Viewed even from the most doubtful standpoint, therefore, the new state of affairs presented to Britain and her Allies is, in the main, no worse than when Germany attacked Poland—with Russia at best a question mark and an avowed, if passive, accomplice of Germany—and nothing like as inferior to her cause as when France collapsed a year ago, leaving Britain to fight on against Germany and Italy alone, again with Stalin figuratively licking his chops on the sidelines. But all this is a matter of nightmarish history. What is now patent to most people is that Hitler and Hitler alone is staking his all on the gambler's last throw, and that the time has arrived to strike with everything the democracies can command at the very heart of Nazi economy while the juggernaut is rolling eastwards from Finland to the Black Sea. Let us hope the offensive in which the Royal Air Force is engaged will grow as ruthless as the Panzer divisions which have ground their way into so many peaceful countries.

Mussolini has declared war against Russia and has assured Hitler he can count on the Italian armies to take their full part in the fight against Communism. We suspect the Nazi high command will take this pronouncement at its face value and tell Duce to keep out of the way and attend to his job of trying to make Italian trains run on time.

One Purpose Now

ALTHOUGH HE DID NOT PROPOSE TO "unsay" anything he had spoken about Communism in the past—and he had fought it for 25 years—Mr. Churchill made it crystal clear to all the world yesterday that ideological conflicts had paled into insignificance in the light of the pernicious action which Adolf Hitler had taken against Soviet Russia in the early hours of the Sabbath morning. "This bloodthirsty guttersnipe," as the Prime Minister aptly styled the former Austrian house painter, had embarked on another military adventure against a country to which he had bound himself less than two years ago in a solemn nonaggression pact. Without warning, with not so much as a preliminary demand or even a tentative diplomatic exchange which might have shown which way the wind was blowing, the Nazi juggernaut began to roll as it had rolled into other unsuspecting nations desiring to live in peace. With this knowledge firmly fixed in his mind—given to the world by the screams of Hitler, Von Ribbentrop and Goebbels—Mr. Churchill unequivocally announced the position of His Majesty's government in London. In so far as lay in her power, Great Britain would assist this latest victim of brutalitarian aggression.

In proclaiming his country's solemn declaration he added immeasurably to the quality of statesmanship to which only the historian will be permitted to allot appropriate tribute. Those countries resisting the application of Nazi technique could depend upon the friendship and aid of all men who cherished the right to live as they thought fit. And his restatement of this fundamental article of faith, moreover, entitled the Prime Minister to express the hope that the example which his native land had unhesitatingly proposed to set would be followed by other nations that value permanent freedom more than such temporary comfort as only indirect association with the horrors of war has vouchsafed to them. Strange as the circumstances are in this strangest of all wars that have brought the descendant of the great Marlborough to so valiant a resolve, there stands out in imposing relief Mr. Churchill's recommitment to the "one irrevocable purpose" of destroying Hitler and the last vestige of the diabolical philosophy he has sought to grind into free peoples who obstruct him. Nothing else matters but this.

Conflicting Ideologies

NATURALLY SOME ELEMENTS IN THE United States will seize upon Hitler's latest aggression, his reversion to the application of the philosophy with respect to Russia as laid down in the pages of "Mein Kampf," as a good argument against interference by the Washington administration in a fight to the death between the protagonists of rival totalitarian ideologies. But such a contention is based on the shallowest premise. Never has the real issue stood out in such relief as it stands today—an issue which concerns our great and friendly neighbor more than at any time since the German juggernaut rolled into Poland nearly 22 months ago. Mr. Roosevelt knows, and even the bitterest opponents of his foreign policy must know and admit it if they are honest with themselves, that this new extension of the conflict bears no other interpretation than an announcement by the Berlin oligarchy to all nations that nothing short of world conquest will satisfy the Hitlerian appetite. The accepted and adopted policy of the United States, taken in her own interests and for her own preservation, is the agency that has obliged the Nazi chief so to widen his attempt at conquest: He must prepare against the day when full American aid to Britain will test his challenge to the utmost.

And is there not a definite difference between the philosophy of Josef Stalin and Adolf Hitler which must influence all doubters—those who have tried to ignore the existence of 170,000,000 people to which the Allied cause between August, 1914, and March, 1917, owed more than seems to be remembered in these fateful days? True, we well recall when the battle cry of Lenin and Stalin was world revolution; but it gradually resolved itself into political propaganda whose impress on majority thought in the main was not regarded as half the menace to international society as some dogmatists have tried to lead the world to believe. As we have said elsewhere in these columns, Finland still remains a matter for the Communistic conscience; but may it not now be said that much of the responsibility for that venture can be laid at the door of "this bloodthirsty guttersnipe" who has just stabbed his neighbor in the back? Moscow's policy—and it should be marked well—has been to hold its own and defend its rightful possessions. Berlin's policy and practice, on the other hand, is aggression anywhere in the world and the acquisition or domination of all its territory. Few in the neighboring republic are unaware of this conflict in the two totalitarian ideologies or the sinister meaning of yesterday's developments.

Royal Air Force raids over industrial Germany must be causing even the most ardent Nazi admirer of Goering's Luftwaffe seriously to think these days.

Did anybody notice that the representatives of the newly-established "kingdom" of Croatia were accompanied to Venice by the Foreign Ministers of both Germany and Italy when they went to sign on the dotted Axis line? Much ado about nothing?

SENSE OF CRISIS

THE GOVERNMENT of British Columbia has lately published an advertisement to prove that "nowhere in Canada is there a graver sense of this crisis in the Empire's affairs than British Columbia." I cannot imagine where the government ever got such a notion. If it had traveled widely in Canada this year and seen the other provinces, it would have come home with precisely the opposite feeling. Nowhere in Canada is there less of a sense of the crisis than in British Columbia. There is nothing in the financial position of British Columbia to suggest that the crisis is known to our Legislature at all.

In fact, the government of Mr. Mackenzie King (which I consider inadequate in its present precise form to manage this war) has so much better a sense of the crisis than most of its critics that I often wonder how they have the nerve to criticize it at all.

If I were a politician anxious to upset the King government, the first thing I would want to know are the facts. How few people bother with them when it is so much easier to accept slogans and ancient beliefs, like the superior patriotism of the other parts of the Empire! A man who had the facts could doubtless make a good criticism of the government. A man who lacks them can only make a low and vulgar noise. That is mostly what you hear in these parts just now because a noise is always simpler to make and comes more naturally to most throats.

Still, you can read the little blue book in five minutes and then you will be ready not only to indict the government, if you want to, but to form an impartial judgment, which might be better. In the end, only one set of figures matters in this war, in the least. Those figures reveal that no matter how much we have done, no matter how much Britain has done, or the United States, Hitler is still making more war materials than we are, all of us combined. He is making somewhere between $35,000,000,000 and $50,000,000,000 worth a year and we, combined, are making about $32,000,000,000 worth. We cannot win until we are making far more than he is and any talk of victory meanwhile merely postpones it with false optimism.

GRAND PIANO

THERE IS IN THIS COUNTRY a curious psychology about compulsions in these matters. Everybody tells me that he won't bother about doing anything until he is compelled to do it, because his neighbor might not be doing it at the same time. Like my friend in Ottawa who rushed out and bought a grand piano just before the Victory Loan because, he said, the government should do nothing voluntarily but should take all the necessary money from us by way of compulsion. He carried his high principle to the point of a grand piano, even though he couldn't play it. There is a man of conviction for you.

To my mind there will have to be a lot more compulsion yet and the sooner the better because, quite evidently, we have not got on top of the war by any means; but if, in the meantime, we have lost our power to act voluntarily, intelligently, simply because we want to, I cannot imagine why we are fighting against a system which represents the only alternative. Hitler relies entirely on compulsion. So does Stalin. We also can have compulsions and rationings, but in the end we must rely basically on something else, and I doubt that it is a grand piano.

HEINE ON NAZIISM

From New York Times

HEINRICH HEINE almost exactly 100 years before the event foresaw the Germany of Adolf Hitler; or, more precisely, described the basic racial factors that made Hitler's Germany possible. In his articles on German history written for the Revue des Deux Mondes in 1834, Heine offers consolation. In his own ironic style, to the disappointed German republicans. Their hopes of a German revolution are postponed but not defeated.

The revolution will come, and it will be no milk-and-water affair. The various schools of German philosophy will have seen to that—the Kantians, the Fichtean and the Nature philosophers. "These doctrines have developed revolutionary forces which only await the day to break forth and fill the world with terror and astonishment. The Kantians with their lack of reverence for everything, and the Fichtean with their fanaticism of the Will are bound to make a thorough job of it."

But worse than either will be the Nature philosopher, says Heine.

"He will be terrible because he will appear in alliance with the primitive powers of Nature, able to evoke the demonic energies of the old Germanic pantheism—doing which, there will awake in him that battle madness which we find among the ancient Teutonic races who fought neither to kill nor conquer but for the very love of fighting. It is the fairest merit of Christianity that it somewhat mitigated that brutal German joy in battle, but it could not destroy it. And should that subduing talisman, the Cross, break, then will come crashing and roaring forth the wild madness of the old champions, the insane berserker rage of which northern poets say and sing. The old stone gods will rise from long forgotten ruin, and Thor, leaping to life with his giant hammer, will crush the Gothic cathedrals."

GEMS OF THOUGHT—THOUGHT

"The key to every man is his thought. Sturdy and defying though he look, he has a helm which he obeys, which is the idea after which all his facts are classified."—Emerson.

"It is thought, and thought alone, that divides right from wrong; it is thought, and thought only, that elevates or degrades human deeds and desires."—George Moore.

UP TO THE U.S. AND US

IT GOES without saying that there can be no union as between Britain and the United States unless the latter is as willing as the former for the change. A whole host of British leaders have made plain where Britain is likely to stand on this proposal if and when it comes. But it must come from America or it will not come at all. That is the reason why Mr. Churchill has refrained from answering a question which has stood for months on the order paper of the British House of Commons asking if Britain will take the initiative towards union.

But as the Ottawa Citizen points out Canada occupies what is perhaps the most advantageous position in all the world to do this very thing.

"From nowhere better than Parliament Hill in Ottawa could a movement of democracy be initiated for federal union to maintain freedom," it says.

The time will come and very quickly, when Canada can speak on this matter perhaps with decisive effect.

NO CERTAINTY

The United States is still hoping against hope that her present degree of support for Britain will be sufficient to enable the latter to defeat Hitler. There is nothing in the world situation to make that a certainty. There is a great deal that I see in the world situation to make it seem increasingly doubtful.

In other words, I believe that the basic dilemma of the democracies is precisely the same now as it was when Hitler began his long march of gobbling them up one at a time.

The democracies must stand together with all their strength or continue to go down one by one. Perhaps Japan, too, will have to take the final plunge before we all realize that we really are in the same boat.

THE TIME IS NOW

The greatest obstacle in North America which stands in the way of immediate all-out war effort and more basic moves towards permanent Anglo-American union is the ignorant assumption that Britain can be defeated in this war and life thereafter proceed much the same as usual on this continent.

Even one magnificent speech by Winston Churchill made a year ago, is misused by the isolationists in the United States to suggest that the Nazis might overrun Britain but that the navy and air force of Britain would thereupon retire to Canada, and this continent have the protection of those forces in any subsequent struggle.

'LAST OUTER RAMPART'

The late Lord Lothian did all that any human being could do to stamp out that fallacy. He showed that if Britain were to go down the navy would certainly go down with her.

If the Royal Navy lost 10 ships in the unsuccessful attempt to hold Crete how many ships would be likely to survive a last battle for Britain in which the navy was fighting to save the very homes of the wives and children of the men on the ships?

If the Battle of Britain were lost this continent would face its own fate without the protection of the British navy, or any other force now overseas. There can be no trans-Atlantic Dunkerque.

There is one reason, among many, why I believe that it will not be lost. For, I believe, that even yet the whole American people will prove that they realize the truth of what the Ottawa Citizen says: "The British Island fortress is the last outer rampart of American freedom."

HE JUST WONDERED

From Leeds Yorkshire Post

In one of the bombed towns of the northeast—part of the front line of this war—a man came picking his way round the rubble of what were houses before they were bomb targets. He was looking thoughtful, and as he passed a group of women having their morning gossip he asked one of them: "Hasta seen 't paper this morning?"

"No, lad, is ther summat in it?"

"Nay, I wer just wondering how 't war wer going on."

'Urgent'

(By telegraph to the Editor of the Victoria Times)

I have today sent the following telegram to the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, Prime Minister of British Columbia, the mayors of the following municipalities, Vancouver, North Vancouver, New Westminster, Prince Rupert, Victoria, Esquimalt:

"The British Admiralty announced last Friday that 1,500,000 gross tons, equal to over 2,500,000 tons deadweight cargo-carrying capacity, British and Allied shipping lost during March, April, May by enemy action. This terrific total is made up of average daily loss of three ships equal in size to largest freighters now being constructed in Canada. While such losses continue, freighters of the type built in British Columbia become increasingly Canada's most important munitions production, without which food and other munitions cannot reach the British population and the fighting front, without which Britain itself cannot survive."

"Any sacrifice that can be made by the civilian population that can hasten delivery of freighters becomes not a sacrifice but an essential civilian contribution to strengthen Britain's existence and hasten victory and such civilian contribution under present war circumstances is a patriotic obligation."

"Existing legislation enables each municipality to establish daylight saving."

"It is estimated in the shipbuilding program now under way in British Columbia daylight saving for eight months each year, March to October inclusive, would increase working daylight time in the shipyards by 1,250,000 hours."

"This additional working time is sufficient to construct two additional 9,300-ton freighters."

"Such increase in working daylight hours is too important to be wasted, therefore, as president of War-time Merchant Shipping Limited, which carries the responsibility of pressing forward Canada's shipbuilding program, I urgently impress upon you and the officials and citizens of your community that you immediately set aside minor obstructions and non-war thinking and adopt daylight saving under the powers which I am informed you possess to take this productive action."

"I would appreciate your leadership and support in bringing about now this important civilian contribution to increasing our strength."

H. R. MacMILLAN,
President, War-time Merchant Shipping Limited.

TORONTO THE 'UNCO GUID'
From B.C. Financial News

In the past Torontonians have heard themselves called complacent, respectable, smug. They have taken it without protest, perhaps even with a touch of pride, that their city's most frequent appellation should be "Toronto the Good." Better to be "good" even in the sense of "uncoguid" or "goody-goody," said Toronto folks might think, than to be coupled with the word "wicked," like, say, Montreal.

But Ralph Maybank, M.P., Winnipeg, has introduced a new expression which has an oily, sleazy sound. It is one thing to be "good" but quite another to be "unctuous" about it (also spelled unctious). It is one thing to be wealthy but quite another to be called grasping and greedy and "to have lived off the rest of the country these many years."

There was no mistaking, the reports agree, the Winnipeg man charged it was in Toronto that their city's "good" even in the sense of "uncoguid" or "goody-goody," said Toronto folks might think, than to be coupled with the word "wicked," like, say, Montreal.

Wartime Housing Needs Studied

Housing needs in the areas of British Columbia where wartime industries have created a shortage of accommodation are being studied by Graydon T. Parmenter, representative of Wartime Housing Ltd., who is on the coast this week, according to W. Lloyd Craig, B.C. government trade representative at Ottawa.

Mr. Craig, who is on the coast for a few weeks, is meeting Mr. Parmenter in Vancouver today.

Mr. Craig said the areas being studied include Victoria, Nanaimo, North Vancouver and Prince Rupert.

Wartime Housing Limited was an organization set up to meet the situation caused by transfer of workers to areas where war industries have been created or expanded, the aim being to provide accommodation where existing houses cannot accommodate the influx.

Mr. Craig on Friday visited Nanaimo to discuss with industrial leaders the possibility of wooden ship construction.

He said that Ottawa had as yet laid down no policy on wooden ships, but Nova Scotia was pressing hard for a program of this kind.

"It is only a personal opinion, of course, but I would not be surprised if in the near future a wooden shipbuilding scheme were adopted," Mr. Craig said.

Numerical Telephone Directory Published

The 1941 edition of the Diggon-Hibben numerical telephone list, that useful companion to the official telephone directory, is just off the press. The work of compiling the new edition has been a formidable undertaking. This will be realized when it is considered that no less than 7,000 changes, additions and deletions had to be made. Approximately 1,500 new listings had to be entered, necessitating enlargement of the book by several pages.

As the title of the publication implies, the listings appear in numerical order, not in alphabetical order, as in the official telephone directory. Thus it is possible to ascertain the name of a subscriber whose number only is known, in a few seconds. The two city exchanges, Empire and Garden, are grouped separately, as are the suburban exchanges Albion, Belmont, Colquitz, Keating and Sidney.

2 Bands to Play At Red Cross Fete

Lieutenant-Governor Hamber will open the Red Cross fete at "Strangewood," Marine Drive, Gordon Head, Wednesday afternoon at 3. Two bands, the Garrison and the Navy, will play. The Victoria girls' team as well as the Highland girl dancers, will perform.

The admission is purely nominal. Special buses will run from the Coach Lines Depot starting at 2.30.

Reorganized Committee To Seek Higher Savings

A new war savings quota of $149,000 a month has been set for Greater Victoria and to meet this quota War Savings Committee units will be reorganized for still greater efficiency, F. E. Winslow announced today.

Mr. Winslow has been appointed chairman of the Greater Victoria committee by the provincial chairman, Chris Spencer, succeeding Duncan MacBride who recently relinquished the post because of the pressure of other war and civic duties. Mr. MacBride will continue to be an active worker on the committee.

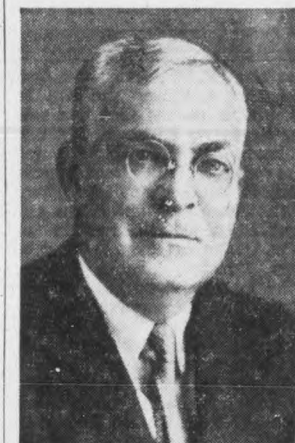

DUNCAN MACBRIDE

Mr. Winslow, who is also chairman of the Vancouver Island committee, said the new quota was based on a rate of $1.31 per capita per month and represented an increase of $25,000 a month over the former quota.

During the first month of the War Savings Campaign, he stated, Victoria had exceeded its former quota by approximately $7,000, but since then had fallen below its objective each month.

The provincial committee therefore decided that units should be reorganized and the entire effort better co-ordinated.

"It is the desire of the War Savings Committee to give everyone interested an opportunity to share in this war project," Mr. Winslow said, "and everyone having enough time and being willing to help is invited to get in touch with the War Savings Committee office at 1238 Government Street or to phone Garden 4523.

F. E. WINSLOW

"A reorganization meeting will take place next Friday evening at 6.15 in Spencer's dining-room, at which a number of representative and public-spirited citizens will be asked to give a moderate portion of their time for the duration of the war to furthering our campaign."

Mr. Winslow said that at the request of the National War Savings Committee, the local committee had been inactive during the Victory Loan Campaign, but that now the loan campaign had been successfully completed the War Savings Committee would again be active in an effort to reach and sustain the new quota.

He said the joint national chairman, W. H. Somerville and Desgaspe Beaubien, had pointed out that the war savings campaign was aimed at cutting purchasing power during the war, thereby releasing to industry facilities which might otherwise be used for luxury production rather than the manufacture of war supplies.

Nazi Barbarism In Norway Camps

LONDON—Barbarous treatment of 12,000 Norwegian civilians in concentration camps in Norway is portrayed in a copy of the camp regulations which has just been smuggled out to England. It comes from a prisoner who escaped from the Ulven camp near Bergen, one of at least five such camps in the country.

The camp regulations contain the following standardized punishments:

1. Three days' solitary confinement for refusing to get up when the bugle blows in the morning or for starting to eat in the mess before the company commander gives the signal.

2. Five days' solitary for failure to get a regulation haircut at regular intervals.

3. Five days' solitary and one week's punitive labor for visiting the doctor unnecessarily and for leaving the place of work without permission.

25 LASHES FOR BACK TALK

4. Eight days' solitary and 25 lashes for talking back to a German or Norwegian S.E. man or for breaking discipline.

5. Fourteen days' solitary for smoking in the toilets or otherwise endangering buildings by fire.

6. Fourteen days' solitary and 25 lashes for derogatory remarks in letters against National Socialism or the Quisling regime, or for praising Marxism or the legal Norwegian government-in-exile or for giving information about conditions in camps.

7. Forty-two days up to permanent solitary for collecting money for or receiving money from illegal organizations, for imparting information to priests or clergymen beyond affairs of a religious nature and for agitating a hunger strike.

DEATH BY HANGING

8. Death by hanging for attempting to organize prisoners into groups, for mutinous speeches, for smuggling out letters, for throwing messages tied to stones over the camp walls, for assaulting camp guards, for refusing to obey orders, or for inciting others to disobey. Guards, when they believe themselves in danger, are empowered to shoot to kill.

9. Death by means to be determined for sabotage, arson or damaging the premises by water.

10. Indeterminate solitary for attempting to bribe a camp official or guard, or for cursing the government. Petitions for the release of prisoners committing such offences will never be considered.

Gets Ahead of Dad By Enlisting

By KAY MCINTYRE

"If I hadn't enlisted right away, dad would have beat me to it." That's the way 18-year-old Ken Ingbritson describes his reasons for volunteering. Two weeks ago he was a butcher's apprentice in Kelowna.

"He's rarin' to go, but my mother doesn't think so much of the idea," Ken says. "Just the same, I wouldn't be surprised if he followed me down here."

Ken thinks he may follow the trade he's going to study in the army. "After our two months' drill, we've a course in carpentry coming up. I should know something about it when I get through."

TO LEARN WIRELESS

Earle Steele, who comes from Princeton, is another recruit who plans to follow the trade he'll learn in the army. He volunteered for the Signal Corps, is going to take wireless training. "It's a thing that will be useful after the war."

PLANS REUNION

"I'd sooner patch a person up than shoot them," says Bill Lambert, who used to work for the Standard Furniture Company. He chose the 12th Field Ambulance when he signed up last week.

Bill's brother has been with the Canadian forces in England for over a year now. "We'll have a great reunion if we ever get together," he said.

RESPONDED TO CAMPAIGN

Fred Crockett, 19, thinks the recruiting drive had a good deal to do with his joining up. "Before the drive started I'd thought of enlisting, but never really got down to it."

Since leaving school Fred has worked on farms up-land and in logging camps. His parents live near Courtenay. "There are a lot of Yugoslavs, Menonites and Italians in the logging outfit up there. They aren't very anxious to get into the army, never mention it, in fact."

An inventory of waterfowl taken on wintering grounds in the United States this year indicated a continental population of about 70,000,000 birds, an increase of only 5,000,000 over 1940. The small increase indicates that the sportsmen's take last year almost equalled the year's crop of wildfowl.

Giant Gliders Seen in Germany

ON THE GERMAN FRONTIER—Gliders bigger than bombers, each capable of carrying a score of fully-equipped shock troops, will be in the vanguard of any German attempt to invade England from the air.

This was learned today from a reliable person who has just come from Germany and who says he has seen the huge gliders in action.

According to this source, German airmen, including "sportsmen-fliers," have been practicing take-offs and landings in the gigantic motorless planes for months in outlying corners of the Reich. The experience gained by one and two-man gliders in the Crete campaign is being utilized.

The gliders, built something like transport planes, were said to be so huge that the Nazis are confident that they will be difficult to destroy in the air, even if detected as they glide silently to their destination. Even if damaged the gliders will be able to sail to the ground.

SEES RADIO-CONTROLLED GLIDERS

WASHINGTON—R. E. Franklin, veteran glider designer of Ann Arbor, Mich., believes Germany may attempt to invade the British Isles with radio-controlled gliders armed with bombs and torpedoes.

He told a House Naval Affairs Subcommittee that the motorless planes could be towed high over the islands by regular transports and bombers and, after their release, directed to objectives by radio.

He said that as many as 10 gliders, carrying a total of 200 men, could be towed by one plane across the channel from German-held ports on the French coast. This system could be used either to land troops or to drop huge loads of bombs in vital points in Britain.

Urges Registration For Job Insurance

R. W. Mayhew, M.P., today issued an appeal to small employers to register under the Unemployment Insurance Act so that all workers who are entitled to the benefits of the scheme may come under it at the start on July 1.

The Victoria member said he had a wire from Hon. Norman McLarty, Minister of Labor, saying that while large employers had registered satisfactorily, the registration of small employers was slow.

The exempted groups include agriculture, horticulture, forestry, fishing, lumbering and logging exclusive of mills, hunting and trapping, transportation by water and air including stevedoring, domestic service in private homes, employment in hospital and charitable institutions, teaching, professional nursing, members of the services, police, permanent public servants, agents paid by commission, casual employees and other specialized categories.

Scouts Celebrate 31st Anniversary

Victoria's oldest Boy Scout troop, 3rd Victoria, celebrated its 31st anniversary on Saturday afternoon and evening with a jam-boree and country fair at the Scout headquarters on Johnson Street. Fifty Scouts and Cubs participated in the program which started at 2.30 and went well on into the evening.

Alderman Percy George, representing the city, officially opened the affair. He recounted the formation and the history of scouting and wished the troop future success.

Competitive demonstrations were the order of the day after Mr. George's talk. The boys showed examples of first aid work and bridge building and gave a demonstration of signalling. Freeman King, commissioner for Scout training in the city, judged the contests.

The rest of the day followed with competition on a miniature midway, which was patronized by the boys, their parents and friends. Tea and home cooking were served in the building.

Tests show that drivers on open country roads average six miles faster at night than in the daytime.

Canadian Club's Canteen Fund Is Over the Top

Thanks to a generous friend who, on reading Friday night's appeal in these columns, sent in a cheque for the $136 balance required, the Women's Canadian Club fund for the purchase of a mobile canteen to be sent to Great Britain, has now gone over the top, it was announced today.

The total amount received in donations was $1,113.65, showing a generous response by the members. The canteen, which will bear the name of the Victoria Women's Canadian Club, will be put into service without delay, the club committee meeting today to make arrangements to cable the fund to London.

The canteen will be used, wherever necessary, to provide hot drinks and food to fire fighters, air raid wardens, bombed-out civilians and Canadian soldiers. As an Englishwoman wrote recently, "these mobile canteens are worth their weight in gold, and we can't have too many of them."

ROBINSON—DUNCAN

At St. John's Church, Duncan, on Saturday afternoon at 3.30, Rev. H. T. Archbold, assisted by Rev. Canon T. M. Hughes, united in marriage Jean, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth F. Duncan, and Mr. Stephen Clive Robinson, only son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Robinson, Lakes Road, Quamichan.

Given in marriage by her father, the pretty bride wore a gown of white lace and satin, with a brief train, her chapel veil falling from a lace Juliet cap, and carried an arm bouquet of calla lilies. Attending her were her sisters, Misses Kathleen and Dorothy, Duncan, in long frocks of white chiffon, silver Juliet caps, and carried shower bouquets of white and red carnations. Little Miss Elizabeth Boyd, in white chiffon and carrying a silver basket of white and red rose petals, made a dainty flower girl. All three attendants wore silver locket, the gift of the groom.

Mr. E. E. Wilkinson was best man, Mr. F. R. Gooding and Capt. W. D. Hewlett were ushers. Under the direction of Miss Joyce Gooding, friends of the bride decorated the church with summer flowers in pastel shades. Mrs. S. H. Hoskins was at the organ, the hymns sung were: "O Perfect Love" and "Love Divine, All Love Excelling."

At the reception at the home of the bride's parents, Mrs. Duncan received in a blue silk crepe jacket dress, Leghorn hat and matching accessories and corsage bouquet of yellow roses and blue delphiniums, assisted by Mrs. Robinson, whose frock was of figured silk, with navy blue hat and accessories and corsage bouquet of red roses and blue delphiniums. The house decorations were carried out in pastel colors. The bride's table was centred with a four-tier wedding cake topped with a vase of pink roses. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. James Greig.

For travelling Mrs. Robinson donned a pale blue jacket dress with blue and white accessories. On their return from their honeymoon, Mr. and Mrs. Robinson will live at Maple Bay for the summer.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mr. and Mrs. P. W. G. Ashton, Mr. and Mrs. F. M. Cazale, Vancouver; Mr. Earl Jacques, Rock Bay; Mr. J. Somerville and Miss Mary Somerville, Nanaimo; Mrs. Treffrey Corfield, Courtenay; Mr. and Mrs. Tom Brown, Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Dallan, Mr. and Mrs. C. Bradshaw, Mr. and Mrs. L. ### SIMS—HOPKINS

The bride's father performed the ceremony at Oaklands Gospel Hall on Saturday evening which united in marriage Daisy Kathleen, elder daughter of Mr. and

Mrs. H. L. Hopkins, 3321 Tennyson Avenue, to Mr. William Sims, only son of Mr. E. S. Sims, Carey Road, and the late Mrs. Sims. Calla lilies, peach gladioli, white campanula and pink roses were used in decoration of the church. Mr. G. A. Hearn played the wedding music, and as the register was being signed Miss Ora Jealous sang "O Perfect Love."

The bride entered the church with her father and wore a gown of ivory georgette over taffeta, with a long graceful train, shirred sleeves, and a round neckline. Her long embroidered veil of net was arranged cap-shape with orange blossoms, and she carried a shower bouquet of white rosebuds, sweet peas and swainsons.

The bridal attendants wore frocks of point d'esprit over taffeta sprinkled with clusters of French organdy flowers in the contrasting shades, and wide matching sashes. The bride's sister, Miss Joyce Hopkins, in pale blue, was maid of honor, and carried a shower bouquet of blue delphiniums and pale pink carnations, and the bridesmaids were Miss Mary Thomson, in peach, and Miss Veil Elder, Vancouver, in pale green and carried shower bouquets of carnations and sweet peas. Their caps, which matched the frocks, were trimmed with French organdy flowers and taffeta bows. Mr. Arthur Bagshaw was groomsmen, and ushers were Mr. Lloyd Vailo and Mr. Lewis Speller.

At the reception held in the hall, Mrs. Hopkins received in a redingote frock of blue revelation crepe with a matching hat, and a corsage bouquet of pale pink rosebuds and swainsons. During the reception vocal solos were given by Miss Jealous, Mrs. H. Simmers and Miss Catherine Morris, and Master Bobbie Stevenson gave a recitation. A buffet supper was served, the bride's table being centred with the cake, with ivory tapers in silver candelabra and vases of pale pink rosebuds.

For a honeymoon to an unannounced destination, the bride left in a dusky rose faille wool dress embroidered with pale blue flowers, rose picture hat trimmed with a blue veil and forget-me-nots, and a Queen's blue coat. Mr. and Mrs. Sims will make their home in Victoria.

Guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. T. Atkinson, Alberni; Mr. and Mrs. R. Robertson, Mr. and Mrs. T. Robertson, Chemainus; Mr. and Mrs. J. Robertson, Lake Cowichan; Mr. and Mrs. J. Parrott, Nanaimo, and Miss Dorothy Dyke, Vancouver.

HORNBY—CLARK

Hornby, 1320 Johnson Street, which took place at 8.30 Saturday evening in Metropolitan United Church in a setting of flowers and ferns. Mr. Edward Parsons was at the organ, and the soloist was Mr. Frank Tupman, who sang "God Gave Me You."

The bride, given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. H. F. Anderson, wore a frock of white figured organza with a train and puff sleeves, and a fingertip veil arranged beneath a Mary Stuart headress with a strand of

'Bloodthirsty Guttersnipe' Launches Legions

Churchill Pledges Help to Russia

The text of Prime Minister Churchill's address pledging aid to Russia in its fight against Hitler follows:

I have taken occasion to speak to you tonight because we have reached one of the climacterics of the war. In the first of these intense turning points a year ago, France fell prostrate under the German hammer and we had to face the storm alone.

The second was when the Royal Air Force beat the Hun raiders out of the daylight air and thus warded off the Nazi invasion of our island while we were still ill-armed and ill-prepared.

The third turning point was when the President and Congress of the United States passed the Lend Lease Act, devoting nearly 2,000,000,000 sterling of the wealth of the new world to help us defend our liberties and their own.

There were the three climacterics. The fourth is now upon us. At 11 o'clock this morning Hitler attacked and invaded Russia. All his usual formalities were observed with scrupulous technique. A nonaggression treaty had been solemnly signed and was in force between the two countries. No complaint had been made by Germany of its non-fulfillment.

Under its cloak of forced confidence, the German armies drew up in immense strength along a line which stretched from the White Sea to the Black Sea and their air fleets and armored divisions slowly and methodically took up their stations. Then suddenly, without declaration of war, without even an ultimatum, the German bombs rained down from the sky upon the Russian cities. The German troops violated the Russian frontiers and an hour later the German ambassador, who till the night before had given assurances of friendship, almost of alliance with the Russians, called upon the Russian foreign minister to tell him that a state of war existed between Germany and Russia.

Similar Outrage To Those Before

Thus was repeated on a far larger scale the same kind of outrage against another form of signed compact and international faith which we had witnessed in Norway, in Denmark, in Holland, in Belgium, and which Hitler's accomplice and jackal, Mussolini, so faithfully imitated in the case of Greece.

All this was no surprise to me. In fact, I gave clear and precise warnings to Stalin of what was coming. I gave him warnings, as I have given warnings to others before. I can only hope that these warnings did not fall unheeded. All we know at present is that the Russian people are defending their native soil and that their leaders have called upon them to resist to the utmost.

Hitler is a monster of wickedness, insatiable in his lust for blood and plunder. Not content with having all Europe under his heel to terrorize into various forms of abject submission, he must carry his work of butchery and desolation among the vast multitude of Russia and of Asia. The terrible military machine which we and the rest of the civilized world so foolishly, so supinely, so insensitively, allowed the Nazi gangsters to build up, year by year, from almost nothing—this machine cannot stand idle, lest it rust or fall to pieces. It must be in continual motion, grinding up human lives and trampling down the homes and the rights of hundreds of millions of men.

Bloodthirsty Guttersnipe

Moreover, it must be fed, not only with flesh, but with blood. So now this blood-thirsty guttersnipe must launch his mechanized armies upon new fields of slaughter, pillage and devastation. Poor as are the Russian peasants, workmen and soldiers, he must steal from them their daily bread. He must devour their harvests. He must rob them of the oil which drives their plows, and thus produce a famine without example in human history, and even the carnage and ruin which his victory, should he gain it—he has not gained it yet—will bring upon the Russian people shall in itself be only a stepping stone to the attempt to plunge the 400,000,000 or 500,000,000 who live in China and the 350,000,000 who live in India, into that bottomless pit of human degradation over which the diabolic emblem of the Swastika flouts itself.

It is not too much to say here this summer evening that the lives and the happiness of a thousand million additional human beings are now menaced with brutal Nazi violence. This is enough to make us hold our breath. But presently I shall show you something else that lies behind and something that touches very nearly the life of Britain and of the United States.

The Nazi regime is indistinguishable from the worst features of Communism. It is devoid of all principle except appetite and racial domination. It excels in all forms of human wickedness, in the efficiency of its cruelty and ferocious aggression. No one has been a more consistent opponent of Communism than I have for the last 25 years. I will unsay no words that I have spoken about it. But all this fades away before the spectacle which is now unfolding. The past with its crimes, its follies and its tragedies flashes away.

Russians Fight To Guard Homes

I see Russian soldiers standing on the threshold of their native land guarding the fields which their fathers have tilled from time immemorial. I see them guarding their homes, where mothers and wives pray. Ah, yes, for there are times when all pray for the safety of their loved ones, for the return of the breadwinner, the champion, of their protector. I see the 10,000 villages in Russia where the means of existence is wrung so hardly from the soil, but where there are still primordial human joys, where maidens laugh and children play. I see advancing upon all this the invidious onslaught of the Nazi war machine, with its clanging, heel-clicking, dandified Prussian officers, its crafty expert agents, fresh from the cutting and cowering down of a dozen countries. I see also the dull, drilled, docile, brutish masses of the Hun soldiery crouching on like a swarm of crawling locusts. I see the German bombers and fighters in the sky, still smarting from many a British whipping, and they are likely to find, they believe, an easier and safer prey.

Behind all this storm, I see that small group of venomous men who planned, organized and launched this catastrophe of horrors upon mankind. Then my mind goes back across the years to the days when the Russian armies were our allies against the same deadly foe, when they fought with so much valor and constancy and helped to gain a victory, from a share in which, alas, they were, through no fault of ours, utterly cut out.

Sees Dominions Supporting Policy

But now I have to declare the decision of His Majesty's government and I feel sure it is a decision in which the great dominions will in due course concur. We must speak out now, at once, without a day's delay. I have to make the declaration.

None can doubt what our policy will be. We have but one aim, and one single irrevocable purpose. We are resolved to destroy Hitler and every vestige of his Nazi regime; from this nothing will turn us—nothing. We will never parley, we will never negotiate with Hitler or any of his men. We shall fight him by sea, we shall fight him in the air, until, with God's help, we have rid the earth of his shadow and liberated his peoples from the yoke.

Any man or state who fights against Nazism will have our aid. Any man or state who marches with Hitler is our foe. This applies not only to organized states but to all representatives of that vile race of Quislings who make themselves the tools and agents of the Nazi regime against their fellow countrymen and against the lands of their birth. These Quislings, like the Nazi leaders themselves, if not disposed of by their fellow countrymen, which would save trouble, will be delivered by us on the morrow of victory to the justice of the allied tribunals.

That is our policy and that is our declaration. It follows, therefore, that we shall give what ever help we can to Russia and to the Russian people. We shall appeal to all our friends and Allies in every part of the world to take the same course and pursue it as we shall, painfully and steadfastly to the end.

Intensified Bombing Promised Germany

We have offered to the government of Soviet Russia any technical or economic assistance which is in our power and which is likely to be of service to them. We shall bomb Germany by day as well as by night in ever increasing measure, casting upon them month by month a heavier discharge of bombs and making the German people taste and gulp each month a sharper dose of the miseries they have showered upon mankind.

It is noteworthy that only yesterday the Royal Air Force fighting inland over France cut down, with great honor to themselves, 28 Hun fighting machines in the air above the French soil they invaded, defiled and professed to hold. But this is only a beginning. From now henceforward, the main expansion of our air force proceeds with gathering speed. In another six months, the weight of the help we are receiving from the United States in war materials of all kinds, especially in heavy bombers, will begin to tell.

This is no class war; this is a war in which the whole British Empire and Commonwealth of Nations is engaged without distinction of race, creed or party. It is not for me to speak of the action of the United States, but I will say if Hitler imagines that his attack on Soviet Russia will cause the slightest division of aid or slackening of effort in the great democracies who are resolved upon his doom, he is woefully mistaken. On the contrary, we shall be fortified and encouraged in our efforts to rescue mankind from his tyranny. We shall be strengthened and not weakened in our determination and in our resources.

Britain Next If Russia Falls

This is no time to moralize upon the policies of countries and governments which have allowed themselves to be struck down one by one, when by united action they could so easily have saved themselves and saved the world from this catastrophe; but when I spoke a few minutes ago of Hitler's blood lust and the hateful appetites which have impelled or lured him on his Russian adventure, I said there was one deeper motive behind this outrage. He wishes to destroy the Russian power because he hopes that if he succeeds in this, he will be able to bring back the main strength of his army and air force from the east and hurl it upon this island, which he knows he must conquer or suffer the penalty of his crimes.

His invasion of Russia is no more than prelude to an attempted invasion of the British Isles. He hopes, no doubt, that all this may be accomplished before the winter comes, and if he can overwhelm Great Britain before the fleets and air power of the United States might intervene. He hopes that he may once again repeat upon a greater scale than ever before that process of destroying his enemies one by one, by which he has so long thrived and prospered, and that when the scenes will be clear for the final act without which all his conquests would be in vain; namely, the subjugation of the western hemisphere to his will and to his system.

The Russian danger is, therefore, our danger and the danger of the United States, just as the cause of any Russian fighting for his hearth and home is the cause of free men and free people in every quarter of the globe. Let us learn the lessons already taught by such cruel experience. Let us redouble our exertions and strike with united strength while life and power remains.

'Perfidy Unparalleled,' Says Molotov

'Hitler Will Meet Doom In Russia as Napoleon'

Canadian and Associated Press The text of Foreign Minister Molotov's broadcast on the outbreak of war with Germany as translated by Tass, Russian news agency, follows:

Citizens of the Soviet Union: The Soviet government and its head, Comrade Stalin, have authorized me to make the following statement:

Today (Sunday) at 4 o'clock a.m., without any claims having been presented to the Soviet Union, without a declaration of war, German troops attacked our country, attacked our borders, at many points and bombed from their airplanes our cities Zhitomir, Kiev, Sebastopol, Kaunas and some others, killing and wounding over 200 persons.

There were also enemy air-raids and artillery shelling from Rumanian and Finnish territory. This unheard-of attack upon our country is perfidy unparalleled in the history of civilized nations. The attack on our country was perpetrated despite the fact that a treaty of non-aggression had been signed between the U.S.S.R. and Germany and that the Soviet government most faithfully abided by all provisions of this treaty.

Never Had Grounds For Complaint

The attack upon our country was perpetrated despite the fact that during the entire period of operation of this treaty the German government could not find grounds for a single complaint against the U.S.S.R. as regards observance of this treaty.

Entire responsibility for this predatory attack upon the Soviet Union falls fully and completely upon the German Fascist rulers. At 5.30 a.m., that is after the attack had already been perpetrated, Von der Schulenburg, the German ambassador in Moscow, on behalf of his government, made the statement to me as People's Commissar of Foreign Affairs to the effect that the German government decided to launch war against the U.S.S.R. in connection with the concentration of Red Army units near the eastern German frontier.

In reply to this I stated on be-

Fuehrer's Declaration of War

Hitler Accuses Russia Of Taking Too Much

BERLIN (AP)—Following is a partial text of Hitler's proclamation of war with Soviet Russia:

German people! National Socialists! Weighed down with heavy cares, condemned to months-long silence, the hour has now come when at least I can speak frankly.

When on September 3, 1939, the German Reich received the English declaration of war there was repeated anew a British attempt to render impossible every beginning of a consolidation and thereby of Europe's rise, by fighting whatever power on the continent was strongest at any given time.

A new policy of encirclement Germany, born as it was of hatred, recommenced immediately (after the first Great War).

The plan of the campaign of lies staged for this purpose consisted in declaring that other people were threatened, in tricking them with British promises of guarantees and assistance, and of making them march against Germany just as it did preceding the Great War. . . .

It was therefore only with extreme difficulty that I brought myself in August, 1939, to send my foreign minister to Moscow in an endeavor there to oppose the British encirclement policy against Germany. . . .

While Germany solemnly affirmed in Moscow that territories and countries enumerated—with the exception of Lithuania—lay outside all German political interests, a special agreement was concluded in case Britain were to succeed in inciting Poland actually into war with Germany. . . .

During our advance in Poland Soviet rulers suddenly, contrary to the treaty, also claimed Lithuania.

The German Reich never had any intention of occupying Lithuania and not only failed to present any such demand to the Lithuanian government but on the contrary refused the request of the then Lithuania to send German troops to Lithuania for that purpose as inconsistent with the aims of German policy.

Despite all this I complied also with the fresh Russian demand. However, this was only the beginning of continually renewed extortion which kept on repeating ver since. . . .

Russian Moves Aimed at Germany

In autumn of 1939 and spring of 1940 the first results actually made themselves felt. As Russia undertook to subjugate by armed force not only Finland but also the Baltic States she suddenly based this action upon the assertion, as ridiculous as it was false, that she must protect these countries from an outside menace or forestall it.

This could only be meant to apply to Germany for no other power could even gain entrance into the Baltic area, let alone go to war there. Still, I had to be silent. However, those in power in the Kremlin immediately went farther.

Whereas in the spring of 1940 Germany in accordance with the so-called pact of friendship with drew her forces from the far eastern frontier and, in fact, for the most part cleared these areas entirely of German troops, a concentration of Russian forces at that time was already beginning in a measure which could only be regarded as a deliberate threat to Germany.

According to a statement which Molotov personally made at that time, there were 22 Russian divisions in the Baltic States alone already in the spring of 1940. . . .

Foreign Commissar V. Molotov of U.S.S.R. Hitler never complained once of nonaggression pact being not observed.

This war has been forced upon us, not by the German people, not by German workers, peasants and intellectuals whose sufferings we well understand, but by the clique of bloodthirsty Fascist rulers of Germany who have enslaved Frenchmen, Czechs, Poles, Serbians, Norwegians, Belgians, Danes, Holland, Greece and other nations.

Not First Time Arrogant Foe Beaten

The government of the Soviet Union expresses its unshakable confidence that our valiant army and navy and brave falcons of the Soviet air force will acquit themselves with honor in performing their duty to the fatherland, to the Soviet people, and will inflict a crushing blow upon the aggressor.

This is not the first time that our people has had to deal with an attack of an arrogant foe. At the time of Napoleon's invasion of Russia our people's reply was war for the fatherland and Napoleon suffered defeat and met his doom. It will be the same with Hitler, who in his arrogance has proclaimed a new crusade against our country.

The Red Army and our whole people will again wage victorious war for the fatherland, for our country, for honor, for liberty.

The government of the Soviet Union expresses the firm conviction that the whole population of our country, all workers, peasants and intellectuals, men and women, will conscientiously perform their duties and do their work. Our entire people must now stand solid and united as never before.

Each one of us must demand of himself and of others discipline, organization and self-denial worthy of real Soviet patriots, in order to provide for all the needs of the red army, navy and air force, to ensure victory over the enemy.

The government calls upon you, citizens of the Soviet Union, to rally still more closely around our glorious Bolshevik party, around our Soviet government, around our great leader and comrade Stalin. Ours is a righteous cause. The enemy shall be defeated. Victory will be ours.

From August, 1940, on I therefore considered it to be in the interest of the Reich no longer to permit our eastern provinces, which moreover had already been laid waste so often, to remain unprotected in the face of this tremendous concentration of Bolshevik divisions. . . .

Russia's threatened attack on Rumania was in the last analysis equally intended to gain possession of an important base, not only of Germany's, but also of Europe's economic life, or at least destroy it. . . .

Invited Molotov To Talk It Over

In order, however, finally to solve these problems and achieve clarity concerning the Russian attitude toward Germany as well as under pressure of continually increasing mobilization on our eastern frontier, I invited Mr. Molotov to come to Berlin.

The Soviet minister for foreign affairs then demanded Germany's clarification of or agreement to the following four questions:

Point one was Molotov's question: Was the German guarantee for Rumania also directed against Soviet Russia in case of attack by Soviet Russia on Rumania??

My answer: The German guarantee is a general one and is unconditionally binding upon us. Russia, however, never declared to us that she had other interests in Rumania beyond Bessarabia. The occupation of northern Bucovina had already been a violation of this assurance. I did not therefore think that Russia could now suddenly have more far-reaching intentions against Rumania.

Molotov's second question: That Russia again felt menaced by Finland. Russia was determined not to tolerate this. Was Germany ready not to give any aid to Finland and above all immediately to withdraw German relief troops marching through the Kirkenes?

My answer: Germany continued to have absolutely no political interests in Finland. A fresh war by Russia against the small Finnish people could not, however, be regarded any longer by the German government as tolerable, all the more so as we could never believe Russia to be threatened by Finland. Under no circumstances did we want another theatre of war to arise in the Baltic.

Molotov's third question: Was Germany prepared to agree that Russia give a guarantee to Bulgaria and send Soviet Russian troops to Bulgaria for this purpose in connection therewith? Molotov was prepared to state that the Soviets did not intend on that account, for example, to depose the king?

My answer: Bulgaria was a sovereign state and I had no knowledge that Bulgaria had ever requested Soviet Russia for any kind of guarantee such as Rumania had requested from Germany. Moreover, I would have to discuss the matter with my allies.

Molotov's fourth question: Soviet Russia required free passage through the Dardanelles under all circumstances and for her

Mackenzie King's View

'March to World Conquest'

Text of the statement issued by Prime Minister Mackenzie King on Germany's declaration of war on Russia, follows:

The German declaration of war upon Russia constitutes a fresh call to arms throughout the British Commonwealth. It was removed the last shadow of doubt, if any yet remained, concerning the purpose of Hitler to dominate the world.

With a cynicism unequalled in the history of perfidy, Germany entered into a pact with Soviet Russia, in order that Russia might be kept inactive until the continent of Europe, including France, was conquered. That agreement now has been broken with the same cynicism and perfidy with which it was signed.

Balked in his effort to break the might of Britain, Hitler has clearly decided to take immediately, instead of later, another essential step in his march toward world conquest, namely, the subjugation of Russia. . . .

The diversion on the eastern front should enable Britain and America to strengthen the western front. It is not a time for protection also demanded occupation of a number of important bases on the Dardanelles and the Bosphorus. Was Germany in agreement with this or not?

My answer: Germany was prepared at all times to agree to alteration of the statute of Montreux in favor of the Black Sea states. Germany was not prepared to agree to Russia taking possession of bases on the straits.

Russia Aided Coup d'Etat

While I made every effort to undertake a final attempt to pacify the Balkans and in sympathetic co-operation with Il Duce invited Yugoslavia to join the tripartite pact, England and Soviet Russia in a joint conspiracy organized that coup d'etat which in one night removed the then government which had been ready to come to agreement.

For we can today inform the German nation that the Serb putsch against Germany did not take place merely under the British, but primarily under Soviet Russian auspices. As we remained silent on this matter also, the Soviet leaders now went still one step farther. They not only organized the putsch but a few days later also concluded that well-known friendship pact with the Serbs in their will to resist pacification of the Balkans and incite them against Germany.

Since even now I still believed it better not to speak, those in power in the Kremlin went still farther; the government of the German Reich today possesses documentary evidence which proves that Russia, in order finally to bring Serbia into the war, gave her promise to supply her via Salonika with arms, aircraft, munitions and other war materials against Germany. . . .

Thus Moscow not only broke, but miserably betrayed, the stipulations of our friendly agreement. All this was done while the rulers in the Kremlin, exactly as in the case of Finland and Rumania, up to the last moment pretended peace and friendship and drew up an ostensibly innocent demerit.

Today something like 160 Russian divisions are standing at our frontiers. For weeks constant violations of this frontier have taken place, not only affecting us but from the far north down to Rumania.

Greatest March In World History

German people! At this moment a march is taking place which as regards extent compares with the greatest the world hitherto has seen. United with their Finnish comrades, the fighters of the victory of Narvik are standing in the northern Arctic. German divisions, commanded by the conqueror of Norway, in co-operation with the heroes of Finnish freedom, under their marshal, are protecting Finnish soil.

Formations of the German eastern front extend from east Prussia to the Carpathians. German and Rumanian soldiers are united under Chief of State Antonescu from the banks of the Prut along the lower reaches of the Danube to the shore of the Black Sea. The task of this front, therefore, no longer is the protection of single countries, but the safeguarding of Europe and thereby the salvation of all.

I therefore decided today again to lay the fate and future of the German Reich and our people in the hands of our soldiers.

May God help us, especially in this fight!

less effort, but for more effort. It is not a time either for any division of opinion, but for strengthened unity of opinion.

The Christian faith, whether it be Catholic or Protestant, depends for its survival as a civilizing force amongst mankind upon the destruction of Nazism.

Every force which fights Hitler today is fighting, whether consciously or unconsciously, for the preservation of Christian civilization.

Every day in which Russian resistance holds German aggression, is a day contributed to the cause of freedom and the growing power of the British Commonwealth and the United States of America.

Let us never forget that the declaration of war on Russia is designed by Germany to make herself stronger and the British Commonwealth of nations and our Allies weaker. We must continue to keep this simple truth before us. Everyone, who engages our enemy advances our cause.

By PETE SALLAWAY

IN WINNING the United States Open, Craig Wood, big and blond, gets belated recognition as one of the great golfers of the game.

Wood is first to bag the Augusta Masters' and the Open the same year, and will bid for the triple crown in the P.G.A. in Denver next month.

Though on the threshold of big titles repeatedly, Wood had to wait 15 years . . . until he was in his 40th year . . . to wear a major crown.

His 284 under adverse conditions in Fort Worth marked the third successive year that he finished under 300 . . . 284 in 1939 and 289 in 1940.

Denny Shute beat him in a playoff for the British Open in 1933. Horton Smith defeated him by a stroke with 284 in the Masters' inaugural in 1934.

Paul Runyan's blazing putter caught him at the 38th hole of a P.G.A. playoff the same year.

It was in the Masters' of 1935 that the most heart-breaking break went against Wood. The Winged Foot star shot a 34 on the last nine for 282, six under par. It was his first wedding anniversary. He appeared to be a cinch, kissed his wife, and said: "There's an anniversary present for you, Jackie."

It was just about that time that Gene Sarazen holed out his memorable 230-yard spoon shot to wipe out Wood's lead. Sarazen prevailed in the playoff.

Two years ago in Wood's first playoff with Byron Nelson and Shute for the open championship on the course of the Philadelphia Country Club, he had to chip and make his final putt after his No. 4 wood shot struck Bob Mossman, an old friend, on the head. Mossman was carried off, blood streaming down his face. No one knew how badly he was hurt. Wood missed the putt which would have won, and lost to Nelson the following day.

Wood never stopped swinging. He fired a world record, 64-68-66-264, in the Metropolitan open at the Forest Hill Field Club, Bloomfield, N.J., last summer.

Next to winning the open, he says that was his biggest thrill. Hard luck trailed Wood like a faithful hound right up to the last. He pulled a muscle in his back so severely he could not compete in the Goodall round-robin. He played through the rain and mud of the open wrapped in adhesive and in a wide polo belt.

Under the circumstances, Craig Wood's victory was one of the most remarkable in the long history of the open.

He richly deserves the title and is a champion of whom the professionals may justly be proud.

Sweepida, which repeated in the $20,000 Golden State Breeders' Handicap at Hollywood Park, is trained by L. R. Staples, who insists he is not a trainer, but just an apple grower.

"Well, if you are not a trainer how do you train Sweepida?" he was asked.

"Same way I train a cow pony," he replied.

"Think what a horse Sweepida will be under a handler like Jim Fitzsimmons, Ben Jones, or Max Hirsch," ventured the leader of a round table debate.

"Oh, I don't know about that," retorted an old-time horseman. "Maybe Staples is just the kind of a trainer the horse needs. The man must know what he is doing because the horse wins. Have you ever trained a horse which won $100,000?"

The leader of the round table took a powder on that one. There are many totally unnecessary frills in connection with the training of horses belonging to affluent stables.

A little common sense gets the same results. Once a good horse is in good condition he will run his race whenever asked.

LeMarquand Takes Extra Game Match

Coming through when points were most needed, Alan LeMarquand defeated G. C. Grant, 7-5, 9-7 in one of yesterday's feature matches in the annual Armadale Tennis Club tournament as the harder players braved showers to clean off their schedules.

Hugh Stubbs Takes Trophy

Slicing his gross 90 to a net 58 with a handicap of 34, Hugh Stubbs, pressman in the Government Printing Office, won the Norman F. Hall Co. trophy in yesterday's annual Graphic Arts tournament at the Colwood Golf Club.

He finished seven strokes ahead of lanky Les Colton of the Times. Colton carded a gross 83 and enjoyed an 18 handicap.

Bob Morrison, Government Printing Office, leading golfer in the tourney, could not compete with the high handicap men, finishing with a gross 77, which his handicap of five reduced to a net 72. He managed, however, to win low gross honors, beating Red Lawson, who turned in a gross 80, which was cut to a net 72 by his handicap. Colin Campbell, Vancouver, posted a gross 85 to lead out-of-town players.

Eighty-five golfers from Victoria and Vancouver participated in the event, declared the most successful in the five years it has been held.

Following play, competitors sat down to a banquet in the Colwood Golf Club, over which Cleaver Wilson presided as M.C.

Lorne Graham, veteran Vancouver graphic arts man, presented the prizes.

FIVE C'S BEAT ARMY CRICKETERS

Five C's smothered a weakened District Depot cricket team Saturday scoring 87 runs for only five wickets after holding the army team to 45 runs.

The depot club lacked several of its leading players who were away on furlough.

The C's had taken four wickets when the 25 figure appeared on the score board. Pybus was the only army batter to reach double figures. He scored 18. None of the other batters went over five runs.

Griffin was the top batsman for the church team, scoring 61 runs before being bowled by Denny. Four batters, Petch, Atwell, Payne and Quainton, did not have any innings.

Payne took six wickets for 31 runs for the C's. Quainton bowled three for 10 and Atwell one for nothing.

For the army team Connell took two wickets for 36 runs, Pybus took one for 31 and Denny one for 19.

C.P.R. Singles Champs Crowned

Cam Brown and Mrs. Dolly Martin won the singles championships of the C.P.R. Tennis Club yesterday before rain forced postponement of the doubles finals.

The men's, women's and mixed doubles championship games will be played this evening at 6.

Brown won from Will Browne-Cave by scores of 1-6, 7-5, 6-3. Browne-Cave gained the final round in the morning when he defeated Ivan Temple 6-1 and 6-0 in the semifinals.

Mrs. Martin won the women's championship from Nora Rice-Jones with scores of 6-1, 6-2. In the morning Mrs. Martin eliminated the defending champion, Marjorie Rice-Jones 6-4, 6-0 in the semis.

In a women's doubles semi-final also played in the morning, Helen Peden and Louise Balfour defeated Kay Harris and Phyllis Lockley 6-4, 7-5.

EMPIRE TROPHY MATCH
Next Saturday and Sunday the Empire Trophy match between the local club and the Vancouver C.P.R. Club will be played here. The trophy has been played for annually for 16 years. Victoria will be defending the cup.

The Victoria Club will act as hosts to the visitors at a dance Saturday night and a banquet Sunday.

Victoria Horse First Killarney L Wins

WINNIPEG (CP) — W. H. Smith's Killarney L, six-year-old son of Simony out of Nurse Whittier, won the Western Handicap at Polo Park Saturday, beating the favorite, Ebony Moon, who placed third behind Contributor.

The Victoria, B.C., thoroughbred covered the mile and 70 yards in 1:45 1/5, just 2 seconds off the track record, to give its owner $1,500. Second place for Contributor was worth $230 to the J. M. stable, Calgary, and Alf Tam's Ebony Moon brought home $110 for third.

Sets Vault Record

"Ceiling unlimited" might well be the slogan of Cornelius Warmerdam, record-breaking record breaker, who broke his own pole vault record at the Compton, Calif., invitational meet. Representing the Olympic Club, he soared over the 15-foot mark three times during the evening, ended up by vaulting 15 feet 5 1/2 inches for a new world's record.

Athletics in Double Win

Break for Eagles

"Thanks fellas. You saved the day!" said the Eagles to the Athletics.

By winning both games of a McGavin Cup baseball double-header with Chemainus here Saturday, the Tillikum Athletics gave the Eagles an opportunity to force a play-off for the championship.

The games were won by scores of 4 to 3 and 8 to 6. The 4 to 3 battle went to 11 innings. This was the afternoon game. The second game was played in the evening.

The double win presents a rather peculiar situation. It brought the Eagles to within a half game of the league-leading Chemainus club, but now they have to battle their benefactors to complete the story.

That crucial game—Eagles vs. Tillikum Athletics—will be played this evening at Athletic Park. If Athletics beat Eagles the championship will go to Chemainus. If not, Eagles will go after the up-landers in a play-off for the cup.

BARNSWELL COMES THROUGH

The boy who won the praise of Athletics' supporters in their 4 to 3 win was Earl Barnswell, second baseman, when he clouted a single in the 11th inning which scored Vic Dale from second for the winning run. One man was out at the time.

The game presented a grand pitchers' duel with Tommy Musgrave, former Vancouver pitcher, working from the mound for Athletics and Jack Naylor whipping them over for Chemainus.

Musgrave fanned eight and Naylor seven. Athletics hit 12 safeties and Chemainus 11.

LOOKED GOOD

Athletics looked better than ever in the second game, collecting six extra base hits, three triples and three doubles. In all they batted 11 safeties, holding up-landers to five.

Athletics scored all of their runs on the pitching of Haley Jackson. Jackson was sent to the bench in the fourth when the locals banded in five of their runs. He was replaced by the afternoon chucker, Naylor, who got things under control.

Jim Jenks, sailor pitcher, started for Athletics, and was taken out in the seventh in preference to Musgrave, who also pitched the afternoon game. Musgrave arrived on the scene with two men down, a runner on third and three balls on the batter. He came through with colors flying, striking out the batter.

Athletics scored two runs in the first inning and one in the third. Chemainus knotted the score with three in the fourth, but the locals followed up with five in their half of the fourth, which won the ball game. Chemainus scored one run in the sixth, one in the seventh and one in the eighth.

DiMaggio and Yanks Set Up Homer Record

By SID FEDER
Associated Press Sports Writer

From the shores of the Harlem to the banks of the Gowanus there was a happy hangover among the baseball-batty inhabitants of New York City.

The fans were praising Joe DiMaggio and company of Yankee Stadium for smashing a major league home run record Sunday; they were thinking of naming a street after Bill Terry for the way his Giants knocked off St. Louis Cardinals in both ends of a double-header and as for the Dodgers, Larry MacPhail and Leo Durocher could have anything they wished as a reward for the double job the daffiness boys did on Cincinnati.

The Yanks were only two games away from Cleveland Indians in the American loop, as a result of a 5 to 4 decision over Detroit's Tigers. But this was only incidental. The big thing was that Joe DiMaggio and Red Rolfe walloped a pair of homers during the ball game, and this made it 18 straight titles in which the Bronx bombers have homered, thereby wiping out the record of 17 in a row which the Tigers set only a year ago. What's more, DiMaggio's poke marked the 35th straight game in which he has hit safely, leaving him only six away from George Sisler's modern major league record.

The Dodgers turned their trick the hard way in Cincinnati, but, since the Cards blew a pair, it left the Brooklyn only one game away from the senior loop's top spot.

16-INNING BATTLE
With a record Cincinnati crowd of 35,792 on hand, the first game against the Reds went 16 innings before Brooklyn grabbed it 2 to 1 on Dixie Walker's squeeze bunt. Paul Derringer pitched his heart out and his arm off going the whole way but they couldn't hit for him. Kirby Higbe found all the holes in the Red bats in the nightcap, served up a three-hitter and won 3 to 2.

King Carl Hubbell knocked off the Cards for the Giants 4 to 3 in the first game in St. Louis, on the strength of a three-run ninth-inning rally, and young Johnny Wittig threw a five

C.C.F. to Oppose Every B.C. Seat

David Lewis of Ottawa, national secretary of the Co-operative Commonwealth Federation, said here today the party proposes to contest every seat in the forthcoming B.C. provincial election.

Visiting the province on an organizational tour of Canada, Mr. Lewis said he was discussing plans for the election with local executives. He spoke to a private luncheon meeting in Spencer's dining-room today and will speak at a public reception in the Chamber of Commerce tomorrow night. He spoke in Nanaimo last night.

Like most people today, the uppermost thought in Mr. Lewis' mind was the Nazi invasion of Russia.

"This latest move of Hitler has justified fully the policy of the C.C.F. in supporting Canada's war against Nazism," he said, "and it supports our belief that Hitler will not stop until he is eliminated from the scene."

"The attack on Russia is another proof of the failure of the appeasement policy, which Russia has tried to pursue for the last two years. I am much cheered up—as I am sure we all are—by the statement of Prime Minister Churchill to the effect Britain and Russia are standing side by side in the conflict."

Thirteen-year-old Harold Dawkin, 425 Cecilia Road, was struck in the hip with a piece of the case of a blank cartridge while playing with four other young boys in a field between Burns and Kelvin Roads, Saanich, Saturday afternoon. The boys exploded the cartridge by lighting a paper underneath. First aid was given by Constables George Claydars, Harry Mercer and Laurie Greenwood of the city police force. He was then taken to Jubilee Hospital, where Dr. H. E. Ridewood attended him.

Hear Briefs Against B.C. Electric Rates

"We can never hope to equal the rates that are prevalent in cities enjoying much more favorable natural conditions for the production and sale of electricity than the Victoria area," A. T. Goward, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company Limited stated today in the presentation of a prepared brief to the provincial public utilities commission sitting in the City Council chamber. The commission is receiving representations from various sources on the rates charged by the B.C. Electric Railway Company Limited.

The hearing opened with F. L. Shaw, city solicitor, presenting Victoria's brief, in answer to part of which Mr. Goward made the above statement.

Dr. W. A. Carrothers, chairman of the three-man board, which includes Major J. C. MacDonald and L. W. Patmore, K.C., told representatives he was aware of the fact those making submissions could not have all the facts to support their points available. The commission, he said, was having an appraisal made of the company's assets and the survey would be made public.

CITY CASE

Claiming rates were unfair, unjust and contrary to law, Mr. Shaw put forward the city's request to have the commission determine just, reasonable and sufficient rates to be observed for electricity and gas supplied in Victoria.

Attacking the floor area basis of establishing minimum charges for domestic consumers, Mr. Shaw contended that policy was discriminatory to occupants of larger old homes. It was a faulty yardstick, he declared, suggesting the system was employed to fix costs on the basis of ability to pay.

In its place he proposed a rate schedule based on a consumption minimum.

He attacked the charges made by the B.C. Electric on a horsepower basis for power used by elevators, stating the city had received complaints over that minimum charge from elevator owners who seldom needed to use the full horsepower of their equipment.

As a third point the city criticized the rent on gas meters, saying rental more than paid for the actual equipment and were imposed in addition to a minimum charge.

In some detail Mr. Shaw submitted a comparison of light and power rates, showing those in Victoria out of line with those in force in other cities, including Vancouver, Washington, locations outside Seattle and Spokane as well as Canadian centres.

PRICE CUTS USE

While the standard of living in Victoria was higher than elsewhere in Canada, the consumption of electricity was generally lower, although a higher per centage of people used some electricity. He suggested the reason for that lay in the fact rates were too high. Lower rates might yield a higher revenue, he believed.

Victoria, he said, paid more per customer for electricity, but used less, he said.

Included in the brief was a list of tables to support the city's case.

W. G. Murrin, president of the B.C. Electric, hoped the hearing would help to advise the public of the difficulties encountered in production of power and thought it might eliminate certain misunderstandings between the company and those making submissions.

He spoke of the highly complicated nature of rate structure, denied Mr. Shaw's suggestion domestic consumers, under the floor plan, were charged on a basis of ability to pay and declared that system highly advantageous to the working man. Under it, he said, the small man secured the benefits of reduced steps quicker than the bigger user.

He criticized city tables, noting some were based on rates previously in effect but not operative now.

In some detail he discussed load factors, a major issue in comparison of rates here with other districts.

Mr. Murrin suggested the Victoria domestic consumption was down because Victorians were not purchasing and using electrical appliances to the same extent as citizens of other districts where they were cheaper. More power would be used, he admitted, if rates were lower.

He said B.C. had more electricity users than other provinces in Canada, because population was more concentrated in the three larger cities in British Columbia.

REVENUE MAIN ISSUE

Mr. Goward declared the issue to be the proper revenue the company should be allowed from all its services. He explained the floor area method of setting a rate, declaring it simple, equitable and practical. In Victoria, he said, the first step—after which reductions in rate are made—compared favorably on a quantitative basis with other centres.

Minimum charges for elevators were explained on the basis of costs of providing the stand-by service for the uneven loads placed upon the system by that type of machinery.

The company's brief declared comparison of rates highly misleading, since costs in each centre varied under climatic, geographic and economic conditions. The city's submissions on the point had ignored special local circumstances, Mr. Goward said.

JORDAN RIVER INADEQUATE

In detail he showed the Jordan River development to be an expensive undertaking and inadequate through climatic conditions to supply local needs without use of the auxiliary steam plant, which had been called into operation this year when the reservoir at Jordan River fell. Later, rainfall had filled the reservoir and made the earlier use of the steam plant unnecessary. But, Mr. Goward added, the company could not gamble on the rain and the costs entailed in using the auxiliary had been unavoidable.

COMPARISONS UNFAIR

Victoria, as a residential area, could not be compared equitably with industrial centres on the basis of load factors, Mr. Goward continued. Government financing placed U.S. figures beyond comparison, he claimed.

To emphasize the results of local conditions on power costs, Mr. Murrin drew attention to the fact similar conditions made Victoria's water rate considerably higher than that of other cities.

Dealing with the gas meter rental charge, Mr. Goward stated that charge had to be made because the revenue from gas was insufficient to provide a reasonable return on the investment entailed. If the meter rent was eliminated, the rate would have to be increased, he said.

Mr. Shaw's suggestion that the inadequacy of the Jordan River project might have been overcome if the B.C. Electric had secured Campbell River rights years ago, was answered by Mr. Murrin with the statement competent engineers had advised against that procedure at that time.

The hearing continued this afternoon.

GEORGE FORMBY AT THE CADET
The Cadet Theatre brings to its screen the popular English comedian, George Formby, in his latest picture to date and probably his best, "I See Ice."
George gets himself into a good deal of hot water as he plays the part of the little man who becomes involved in a series of events of international importance. The main cause of his trouble is his little camera which causes a lot of consternation to certain villains of the movie.
The picture is full of good, hearty laughs from start to finish.

We Too, May D. Share Honors

C class cruisers, competing in the series for the Virtue Cup, had an exciting race yesterday. They covered a 28-nautical mile course from the Royal Victoria Yacht Club's moorings at Cadboro Bay to D'Arcy Island, around Little Zero Island and back to the bay.

The craft got away at 10.15 a.m. First across the finish line was We Too, sailed by Dick and John Alexander, at 5.57.54 p.m. Second was May D. Charlie and Arthur Davies, 5.55.32 p.m. (corrected time). Lalanga, R. V. James, 5.59.05 p.m., and Shangri-La, Tom Halkett, 5.55.29 p.m. (corrected time) tied for their place. Fourth was Margaret D. Max Young, 6.08.29, and fifth, Inez, Dennis Barraclough, 7.59.35 p.m. Minto, Mrs. Gordon Campbell and Barbara Jean, Maurice Green, did not finish.

In Saturday's races for the Virtue Cup May D. was the winner, finishing just 30 seconds ahead of the Wee Too, which was two and a quarter minutes ahead of the Margaret D. The course was from the club moorings to Cattle Point, Jimmie Jones Island, beach mark and finish line.

BRITISH CAPTURE GERMAN VESSEL

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty said in a communique Monday:

"The German steamship Babington of 4,422 tons, which has been acting as a supply ship, has been intercepted by our patrols."

"She had been taking refuge in Brazilian waters since the outbreak of war and sailed from Santos on April 24, having cleared for Vladivostok. Included in her cargo at the time were 1,000 tons of diesel oil in drums."

"When intercepted two months later in the Atlantic, the Ss. Babington was disguised as a Dutch merchant ship. She then was making her way to the German-occupied port of Brest."

LOST SUB SAILORS 'STILL ON DUTY'

PORTSMOUTH, N.H.—The United States Navy honored today as "men still at their station on duty" the 33 members of the sunken and pressure-crushed submarine O-9 after abandoning efforts to recover their bodies or to salvage the craft from murky depths 440 feet below the surface.

The decision to allow the men to lie buried on the ocean floor came only after two courageous navy divers descended to the side of the underwater vessel in working dives unparalleled in history. It was determined that further efforts would jeopardize divers' lives.

"Under present circumstances," said Admiral Harold R. Stark, chief of naval operations in Washington, "the decision must be to accept the situation as loss of naval personnel at sea who can best be honored as men still at their station of duty. Not one of them would expect or wish another naval man to risk his life to provide another final resting place."

Naval officials said that although it may never be determined what caused the 23-year-old, recently-commissioned craft to plunge to the ocean bed during a test dive, a naval board of inquiry would hold an investigation either in New London, Conn., or Portsmouth at an unannounced date.

All bones from which glycerine, lubricants and phosphorus can be obtained, must be saved by German housewives.

New War Starts Market Climb

NEW YORK (AP)—Securities and commodity markets responded to the German clash with Russia with a swift upswing.

Wall Street jumped to the conclusion it meant relaxation of the pressure upon Britain. In the Stock Exchange leading issues jumped $1 to $4 a share in the first few minutes, but the buying wave soon subsided, and by the end of the first hour some shares had fallen back 50 cents to $1 from the best.

Canadian traders reacted favorably to the Russian-German clash. Gains were noted in all divisions of the Montreal and Toronto Stock Exchanges. Volume on both markets picked up with the firmer tone prevailing.

Shares were steady to firm at London, weak in Tokyo where it was feared Japan now might be "out on a limb," and buoyant at Shanghai as it was believed the situation in the Pacific would be definitely eased.

Bond market also rose, with rails making sharp gains. Loans of Australia, Canada and other countries identified with the British cause also pushed higher.

Wheat futures at Chicago rose as much as 4 cents a bushel, corn 3 cents, and cotton at New York more than 75 cents a bale, reaching the best prices since 1930.

Trading in rubber for future delivery was suspended for the day, to give time to consider the effects of the government control measures.

Metal Prices

NEW YORK (AP)—Copper steady; electrolytic spot 12.00; tin firm; spot and nearby 53.12; forward 52.62. Lead steady; spot, New York 5.85 to 5.90. Zinc steady; East St. Louis spot and forward 7.25. Aluminum, virgin 99 per cent, 17.00. MONTREAL (CP)—Spot, copper, electrolytic 12.75; tin 61.87; lead 5.50; zinc 6.60; antimony 12.25; per 100 pounds f.o.b. Montreal, direct from U.S. 12.50.

LONDON (AP)—Bar silver 23 7/16d, unchanged. (Equivalent 42.50 cents.)

IRENE DUNNE PLAYS IN YORK PICTURE

Because they gave outstanding performances in their first picture for Columbia, two young screen players recently were awarded long-term contracts with the film organization.

The players are Rosalind Keith and Leona Maricle and the picture in which they are featured is "Theodora Goes Wild." Irene Dunne's latest starring production which is the current attraction at the York Theatre.

'Sailors Three' Now At Oak Bay Theatre

Walter Forde is famed both for his direction of spine-chilling films and comedies. Recently, while at work on "Sailors Three," he was on the set directing when, just a few yards away from him a real-life scene was taking place.

Michael Wilding, one of the three sailors, was trapped between two heavy doors, beating in vain against them to attract attention.

Visitors to the Oak Bay Theatre today will have an opportunity of seeing the clever young actor who had such a narrow escape.

'SINGAPORE WOMAN' OPENS TOMORROW

A talented cast, a gripping story and a beautifully scenic background have been put into Warner Brothers' "Singapore Woman," the film opening at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Heading the cast is Brenda Marshall, versatile actress whose several impressive screen appearances have already put her in star rating. Supporting Miss Marshall are David Bruce, Virginia Field, Jerome Cowan and Rose Hobart.

New York List

NEW YORK (AP)—The German-Russian war outbreak received the principal credit for brisk rallies in Monday's financial markets that, for a moment, led some to think another "boom" was in the making.

The only fly in the recovery ointment was that there was not much of a follow-through. Initial gains on Wall Street of 1 to 4 points were well received at the close.

In the morning a number of leaders such as U.S. Steel appeared late in the ticker tape in blocks of 1,000 to 7,000 shares.

Among stocks touching new highs for the year were Standard Oil (N.J.), Western Union, Texas Oil and Savings Arms.

Prominent on the move were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Douglas Aircraft, J. I. Case, Sears Roebuck, U.S. Rubber, Santa Fe, Anaconda, American Telephone, Du Pont, Allied Chemical and American Can.

Canadian issues were generally higher. Canadian Pacific and Walkers gained ½ and Dome ¾. In the bond market Canada 4s were up 58.

Dow-Jones averages closed today as follows:
30 Industrials 123.97, up 1.46
20 rails 28.27, up 0.28
15 utilities 17.80, up 0.05
Total sales—760,000 shares.

Wheat

WINNIPEG (CP)—General buying encouraged by a strong display at Chicago bogged all coarse grain futures prices to higher levels on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today. In the wheat pit, southern houses made good purchases but presence of more liberal offerings prevented July wheat from rising from its pegged level of 77 1/2 cents a bushel.

Shipper purchases hoisted oats values about a cent to new seasonal highs in all futures while July barley scored a new top for the season.

Flax jumped more than four cents on support from investors and crushers. Spreading operations were credited with boosting rye prices about a cent.

Buenos Aires prices held unchanged. The cash wheat market was dull although southern houses indicated willingness to take some of the lower grades.

World wheat shipments totaled 8,504,000 bushels last week, 6,411,000 the previous week and 7,427,000 during the corresponding seven days a year ago. North America's share was 5,976,000 bushels last week, 5,231,000 the preceding week and 2,297,000 last year.

CHICAGO (AP)—The Russian-German war sent grain prices into a sharp upward spiral today that carried values of some commodities to highs since 1937. Grain men said they saw the possibility of food shipments to Russia under the Lease Lend Bill. This might include wheat. Ottawa reports indicated Canada may permit shipment of wheat to Russia.

Wheat rose as much as 3 to 4 cents, corn 3 cents, soybeans more than 5 cents. Wheat was the highest in more than a year.

Despite profit-taking on the advance, wheat closed 2 1/2 to 2 3/4 cents higher than Saturday, July $1.04 to $1.03 1/2, September $1.05 1/2 to $1.05; corn 1/2 to 3/4 up, July 74 1/2 to 74 1/4, September 76 1/2 to 77; oats 1/2 to 3/4 higher.

Volcanoes Build Cones as Time Passes

In ancient times a certain god was called "Vulcan," and was said he had charge of fires. From his name grew the modern word "volcano."

A volcano is a hole in the earth through which something hot comes out. Many land volcanoes send forth smoke, as well as ashes and lava.

It has become our custom to speak of a mound of a certain shape as a volcano. The fact is that the mound is there only because something has come out of a hole in the earth. When explosions take place, they usually build up cones, made of lava and ashes. Yet the cones would not exist if the volcanoes never had erupted.

HOROSCOPE

Benefic aspects rule today. Advent of the new moon should cause many persons to prosper. The seers foretell gains for those who make the most of unusual talents or abilities. In the business world important opportunities may appear. Women should be careful to do nothing in variance with public opinion. This is a favorable time for settling domestic affairs.

With Saturn inactive no important conquests are predicted in the immediate future, although large-scale movements will continue in the theatres of war.

Persons whose birthdate it is have the augury of a prosperous year. Children born on this day probably will be ambitious and persistent.

4 Army Centres Will Be Open

At least four military centres in this district will be open for public inspection next Saturday when Army Day is observed.

From 10 a.m. until 8 p.m., the public will be allowed to inspect Bay Street Armouries, the Officer's Training Centre at Gordon Head and the Parson's Bridge Camp at Colwood. Esquimalt Military Hospital at Work Point will be open to the public from 2 to 4.30.

Dorothy Dix's Letter Box

DEAR MISS DIX—Sarah did a stinky thing last night at the prom. She snaked another girl's date, and that is the lowest trick you can play at a dance. She said to me in her sweet, innocent way: "Honey, I snaked Polly's man, he was so nice." I told her it was a nasty thing to do, and some of the other kids gave her the same answer when she told them. She is so darned slick that she gets away with murder. She has that "Innocent" game right down pat, but it seems to me she has been cute long enough and it is time she snapped out of it. And I think some social pressure should begin to bear down on her. Have you any suggestions? COED.

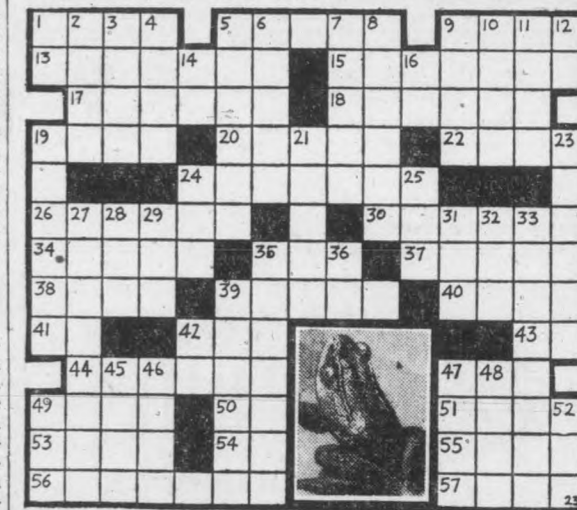

Answer: You've the right idea about dealing with the date-snatcher. Apply social pressure on her for all it is worth. Make her see that the love thief is just as taboo in society as is the lady burglar who will walk away with the silver if she isn't watched.

If you clamp down good and hard on Sarah, you may be starting a great reform, for the woods are full of girls who have the same predatory instincts that she has. They can't see a man paying attention to any other woman without wanting to take him away from her.

Perhaps a girl who is plain of face and who has none of the arts and wiles with which to snare a man has at last found some man who is intelligent enough to see how fine and sweet she is. Maybe a wife has a handsome and devoted husband. The man-thief sees these men and thinks it would be fun to break up the homely girl's marriage and the happy wife's home, and she does it. She sneaks away their men so innocently that the men never suspect how it was done.

If the love-thieves had to pay as heavy penalty for stealing other women's men as they do their forks, it would practically stop divorce. DOROTHY DIX.

With the Forces

3rd Scottish
Given Books

All ranks of the 3rd Canadian Scottish received copies of the recently-published book, "The Canadian Scottish Regiment," at a ceremony yesterday at Heals Range, where the reserve unit is in camp.

Col. C. W. Peck, former commanding officer of the 16th (Canadian Scottish) Battalion, C.E.F., addressed members of the unit immediately after church parade.

"When a group of men are associated together over a period of years, when they suffer hardships and wounds, when a number are taken by death, that is what brings about what we call esprit de corps," Col. Peck said.

"What is in the hearts of the men is what makes the success of this or any regiment."

"I feel that you boys will all be aware what a wonderful group of men we had in the 16th Battalion when you read this history with which you are being presented today."

"I ask you to serve your commanding officer with the same ability, the same fidelity and affection as the men of the old 16th."

All ranks of the battalion, comprising men from Victoria, Port Alberni, Nanaimo, Ladysmith, Chemainus and Duncan, then received copies of the regimental history from Col. Peck, Col. H. M. Urquhart, colonel of the regiment, and Lieut.-Col. Brooke Stephenson, commanding officer.

Published as a remembrance from survivors of the 16th Battalion to men now serving with the Canadian Scottish, the book sets forth the history of the 16th in the Great War. Copies already had been presented to the 1st and 2nd Battalions.

Following the ceremony, the battalion marched past a saluting base to music provided by its own band. At the base, in addition to regimental officers, were the following veterans of the 16th: Capt. A. R. T. Harragin, J. E. Ward, former Sgt. P. Wade, F. Swannell, H. Brown, S. J. Chiverrall, Sgt. E. W. D. Wilson of the Veterans' Guard, all of Victoria, and D. Macdonald and W. Ashton of Vancouver.

Reprieved, Joins Air Corps

"Rowdy" and Alyn Nelson who led fight for his life.

SAN FRANCISCO—"Rowdy," the Oakland, Cal., fox terrier that attracted continent-wide attention when he became doomed to death by the provisions of his late mistress' will, is not to die. With 300 letters pouring in a day from dog lovers, lawyers took his case to court to find a loophole in the will.

"Rowdy," wearing a red, white and blue jacket, rode in a special, bunting-draped car driven by a soldier in the big United Service

Organization parade through San Francisco. The car was preceded by a coast artillery band and followed by a municipal band and military and naval marching units. The placard on his car said: "Rowdy for U.S.O. and U.S.A. for Rowdy."

In Probate Court today Judge T. W. Harris ordered stay of execution for Rowdy and that he be handed over to the Army Air Corps at Hamilton Field where the U.S. Army wants him as a mascot.

said. "Even if a majority of the people were against the government, there would be no chance to revolt against a government as efficient as the Nazi organization."

"The only way it could come about would be for the workers in the factories and in the transportation to do sloppy work and to slowly break down the efficiency of the country. Or there could be a conflict within the Nazi party, or between the army and the party. But I do not look for this right away, at least."

OIL AND GRAIN LACKING

Dr. Von Fritz, who is teaching the classics and ancient history at Columbia University during the academic year, is taking a interest in the snarling between Berlin and Moscow. "No prophecy can be made about the moment," he said. "What Hitler needs is oil from the Caucasus and grain from the Ukraine."

"He would like to get these things without a war. While he is sure he could defeat Russia without much trouble, he would find it difficult to solve the production and the transportation problems that would arise. But, even if the Russians promise to give him oil and grain as he needs it, will they keep their promises? The Russians are not so very good about this."

"What Hitler would like would be some sort of peaceful penetration of the rich sections of the Soviet territory. He would like to send in engineers and other officers to see to it that oil and grain moved out as he needs them."

As for Herr Hess, the savant made it clear he hasn't any first-hand information, but feels sure the "third man of the Nazis" was not sent to Britain by Hitler because the Nazis made too many explanations as to what had happened to Hess when he went over the hill.

Parasites

Making their homes near the webs abandoned by spiders, thread-legged bugs prey on the insects caught in the deserted snares.

Healthy snakes shed their skins once every two months.

Prizes Given
At Brentwood

Parents, friends and pupils filled the gymnasium of Brentwood College Saturday afternoon for the annual speech day ceremonies. The gathering was addressed by Prof. E. S. Farr.

Introduced by Headmaster A. C. Privett, Prof. Farr outlined the code of democracy as opposed to that of the totalitarian state. The present struggle, he said, was definitely between two opposite states, that of the omniscient individual and that of democracy, a delicately poised system maintained at the price of eternal vigilance.

"More than freedom, it is responsibility, personal capacity," Prof. Farr said, and added that this was early exemplified in the playing fields of England, where fair play, honor, and the team spirit were cultivated and where the individual, with his rights and opportunities, still was integrated with the group.

"Democracy is only workable where people are schooled in self-discipline and where they may stay free by cultivation of the power of self-restraint and self-expression," he said.

Mr. Privett gave a review of the year's activities at Brentwood College. All 15 candidates writing matriculation examinations had passed, he said, the average mark being 75 per cent. Five boys had entered for the Royal Canadian Navy, three for the senior matriculation scholarships of British Columbia and one for scholarship at McGill.

Special activities mentioned were the organization of a cadet corps and completion of one of the two planned tennis courts.

Prizes were presented by Mrs. D. J. Angus. Tea was served in the school hall, where manual training and mechanical drawings were displayed.

Ambulance Brigade Parades

Members of the nursing division, ambulance division and cadets of the Order of the Hospital of St. John of Jerusalem and of the St. John Ambulance Brigade paraded for Divine service yesterday morning at Christ Church Cathedral. Mrs. W. A. Thorn, head of the Nursing Division of the Brigade, is shown above leading the division in the parade. About 150 marched in the parade. Similar services are held annually on the Sunday nearest St. John's Day by members throughout the Empire. G. H. Stevens, chairman of the provincial council of the St. John Ambulance Association, and other leaders of the organization in Victoria, attended the services.
